At the age of eight, Mr. Griffin began actively following and investing in the U.S. Stock market, a life long passion that continues to this day. At nine years old, he started a mail order collectible coin and numismatics business that went online in the late 1990's. Several other pursuits have lead to his current commercial endeavors. After which, in his height of arrogance, Mr. Schuler, who was recently appointed to the Capitol Area

In the Fall of 2022, Marvin made a $150,000 donation to the SSM foundation for a new operating machine. Marvin refused to provide a rationale behind the donation to Mr. Griffin, as he does and frequently brags about, with all donations that he makes, and has done so to Mr. Griffin for the past several years. This donation was a needed 'olive branch' to Madison's Catholic community, who he would later commandeer their support from, to turn on Mr. Griffin, in support of his and the parties insurance fraud scheme, meant to defraud a subsidiary Insurance company of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (BRKa & BRK.b), who insured Mr.Griffin for an umbrella policy in the amount of $5,000,000 USD.

Additionally, the donation provided proximal but functional control over one of Mr. Griffin's key clients, who is employed by the SSM hospital and who's direct supervisor matched Marvin's donation at a rate of $25,000-50,000 based upon SSM Foundation's press release of the donation made by him. This $150,000 gift, was in essence, Marvin's portion of the "investment" in the scheme to defraud Mr. Griffin's $5,000,000 Personal Liability Umbrella Policy, providing him with a multi x rate of return upon completion. In his height of arrogance and disrespect, he attempted to us Mr. Griffin's former client and medical doctor and pressed him to attempt to visit Mr. Griffin multiple times in attempts to misuse and misapply involuntary mental health commitment process. Jeff Levy compensated Edge Construction through Simon builders , who was performing a "half of his house" remodel project at his 829 Lakewood Dr. home, as his general contractor. This "off site" subcontractor of Simon Builders, Edge construction, was performing remodeling at the home of Foley & Lardner Attorney Matt Lee, 208 Lakewood Dr. Madison, WI 53704, simultaneously.

This third party payment of construction work was devised to support the parties insurance fraud scheme and turn Matt Lee, who was Mr. Griffin's own and paid attorney, against Mr. Griffin, his own client.

Most recently, George Cullen and Jeff Levy, utilizing R.G Harriman General Contractors and Simon Builders respectively, beginning in October 2023, are both concurrently, performing extensive remodeling projects on their respective Maple bluff homes using these aforementioned general contractors. This second half and final payment of Construction services in October 2023 was meant to close out the schemes financial obligations to it's secondary participant and fictitious straw victims for which their addresses and time lines are highlighted at the end of the introduction to parties section.

These two general contractors have paid subcontractors, Paramount roofing and Badgerland exterior, to perform repayment work for the straw and fictitious victims families at their homes, all located in the Village of Maple Bluff, WI. These repayments of construction work are to compensate them for their collaboration and help in the insurance fraud scheme meant to defraud Mr.Griffin's insurer, a subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway Inc, out of a policy limit payout of $5,000,000.

Shortly before his passing, Mr.Griffin provided to Marvin Levy, extensive information regarding Phil's decades of charity work that pertained to the Gay, Lesbian, and transgender communities in the Madison and Dane County Area. To Mr. Griffin's dismay, upon publication of Phil Levy's obituary, which Marvin Levy wrote, Marvin "cleansed" or removed all of Phil's work and accomplishments pertaining to the Gay community that Mr. Griffin had previously relayed to him.

Upon being confronted with this, by Mr. Griffin, in the Middle of February 2021, Marvin cowardly and disingenuously tried to apologize. Mr. Griffin could tell, based upon his long history with Marvin and extensive time spent, and based up his body language and facial expressions, he was in fact, not sorry, but rather was sorry for being caught. Mr. Griffin strongly considered leaving Marvin at this point due to faux support of the gay community and by extension him, and prior multi year and disgusting treatment of Phil, however, he stayed as he had promised Phil, on his deathbed, a week prior that he would take care of Marvin and Jeff, in Phil's absence.

Mr. O'Driscoll using his authority, position, and supervision at the bank as a senior commercial lender, has provide false and misleading information about

Mr.Griffin to the Insurance fraud parties, including the Village Police chief Mr. Nystrom, who he supervises. In doing so, he has blocked and encumbered Mr.Griffin's ability to access his insured deposits at the bank without reason or justification, in violation of Mr. Griffin's rights and allowances provided by his deposit agreement and subsequent FDIC insurance. Further, blocking or interfering with the access of insured demand deposits for personal gain, or crimes such as racketeering, is in violation of Old National Bank's state granted banking charter.

Additionally, Mr. O'Driscoll participated in the approval of Tax Increment financing and zoning approvals for the Gordon Apartment project at 628 N Sherman Ave, Maple Bluff, WI 53704, during which Village tax payer were swindled to the tune of $1,500,000-2,000,000. Mr. O'Driscoll received cash and none cash compensation and loan pay-downs, in exchange for his support of Mr. Rice's tax increment financing application, for which the pro-form's were a shame. Ms. Reyerson is a current trustee of the Village of Maple Bluff, WI. Mr. Griffin met Ms. Reyerson in 2016. Ms. Reyerson assisted Tanner Nystrom in the recruitment of straw and fictitious victims of the insurance fraud scheme. Mr. Griffin has witness numerous outburst of Ms. Reyerson's alcoholism, one most vividly remembered is when she came directly from the hospital in blue scrubs, smelling of alcohol and attempted to kick Mr. Griffin out of the Maple Bluff Country Club swimming pool outdoor area, for violating capacity and "spreading the corona virus". The pool area was outdoors and not subject to capacity restrictions. She further tried to remove Ms. Holt from the pool for not being from the same family and "spreading the corona virus". Simultaneously she took no objection to other families having their Nannie's, friends, and their kid's friend at the outdoor pool as she was sure "they are social distancing". Mr. Griffin kindly asked Ms. Reyerson to "take a hike" and advised her that her healthcare knowledge was limited in scope, at best.

Her aggression escalated and she started raising her voice, attempting to put her hands on Mr. Griffin and pointing her figure in his face. Mr. Griffin, regrettably, was forced to stand up from his peaceful sun lounge chair, and matched her disrespect, "shouting her out of the pool area at a high volume". Conceivably due to her intoxication, she burst into tears and stormed off. Lily Woodman and John Bicker Jr. witnessed the melee. Later the next day, Club President Jennifer Hussein emailed Mr. Griffin and demanded to have lunch "to discuss what happened". Mr. Griffin reviewed and dispositioned her email to trash, without offering a response.

Marvin Levy procured the termination of Attorney Kevin Trost from Axley Attorneys with cash payments made to the Managing Partner of the firm in 2021, as well as other sabotage, in an effort to torpedo the investigation and protect his ex-girlfriend, Ms. Elizabeth Covington. Mr. Griffin believed the conduct was intentional and a direct dereliction of Mr. Austin's responsibilities to the Students and Faculty of the University of Wisconsin - Madison. Flock Safety is an Atlanta, GA based company that provides cloud based digital surveillance and security systems to municipalities nationwide. They specifically read license plates of passing vehicles and other information about the vehicles. The Village utilizes Flock's camera systems in numerous locations within the Village of Maple Bluff. These cameras are specifically designed to reduce crime but they are all under siege from civil liberties organizations due to their potential misuse. Since individual law enforcement agencies have access to a nationwide network of cameras, Flock has created essential mass surveillance. As the Village of Maple Bluff's behavior can confirm, misuse of camera systems used to harass residents, but sold to the public under the guise of safety, is in fact, a real problem that need to be addressed and reined in.

Derrick Anthony Moore

Mr. Moore is an employee with the United States Postal Service (USPS). Mr. Griffin met Mr. Moore in 2012 and actively dated him from 2013-2015. Mr. Griffin and Mr. Moore have been in a same sex Domestic Partnership registered in Dane County, WI from 2013 through 2023. Mr. Griffin has remained in this Domestic Partnership as Mr. Moore is the only man he has actually loved and trusted. Foley and Lardner Attorney Matt D. Lee has circumvented this right and privilege from Mr. Griffin by arranging a straw marriage of Mr. Moore to an illegal alien non citizen related to Ava Palek, the owner of Touch of Europe Cleaning, LLC Mr. Lee preyed on Mr. Moore's tough financial circumstances by compensating him with a black electric e-bike, cash payments, and clearing his collection debts in WI circuit court collections and garnishment case numbers: 2020SC006061 and 2020CV002063.

This dubious plot was sold to Mr. Moore By Foley Attorney Matt Lee under the guise that he was helping a women in a dangerous situation in war torn Eastern Europe to escape tyranny. In reality, the arranged and paid marriage was being used as a trade so that Mr. Lee and the Insurance fraud parties could gain access to Mr. Griffin's home through Touch of Europe LLC's cleaning services, which were performed bi-weekly at Mr. Griffin's residence. This access was used to plant drugs, access child pornography on Mr. Griffin's computer systems and home internet network using passwords obtained from Shannon Holt and Marvin Levy.

Together they planted biological, fiber, and physical evidence inside Mr. Griffin's home to corroborate minor sexual assaults and enticements which never actually occurred. This was to make it possible to commit insurance fraud against Berkshire Hathaway Inc. by taping into Mr. Griffin $5,000,000 personal umbrella insurance policy after we was to be falsely arrested, convicted, and sued for personal injuries by Attorney Bob Gingras representing the fictitious victims and their families. The straw victims and their families are complicit in the conspiracy to commit insurance fraud scheme. Marvin and Jeff Levy further assisted the parties and exploited their close relationship with Mr. Griffin and are the primary drivers of the scheme.

Rhonda C. Griffin - Guardian of Zachary Griffin

Ms. Griffin is Mr. Griffin's biological Mother. She is the primary caretaker and sole guardian of Zachary Griffin. Both Zachary & Rhonda Griffin reside together in Janesville, WI. Zachary has been under the guardianship of Rhonda Griffin since 2002. The perpetrators of the insurance fraud scheme, Shannon Holt, Marvin Levy, Jeff Levy, Chief Tanner Nystrom, and Foley attorney's Matt Lee, Antonia Prestigiacamo, and Jennifer Luther, used their knowledge of Ms. Griffin's former career as a school teacher and early childhood speech pathologist and exploited her into a witness and adverse party against Mr. Griffin, who is her son, based upon crimes which did not occur and that they fabricated. Further their exploitation of Ms. Griffin was based upon evidence that they planted in his home, at his business, in and on his private and business computers and networks, and in his automobiles. The insurance fraud perpetrators criminal actions and absurd conduct have caused irreversible harm and unnecessary distress to Mr. Griffin's Mother, Rhonda Griffin, forever altered their Mother Son relationship, and caused permanent harm to Mr. Griffin's Brother, Mr. Zachary Griffin, who is a fully disabled and non verbal individual with Asperger Spectrum Disorder, spinning him into a violent emotional and mental depression.

Zachary R. Griffin - (Disabled Adult Ward)

Zachary Griffin is Mr. Griffin's Biological Brother. Mr. Zachary Griffin is a disabled ward under the guardianship of Rhonda Griffin. Zachary is non verbal and has Asperger spectrum disorder. Both Zachary & Rhonda reside together in Janesville, WI. Zachary has been under the guardianship of Rhonda Griffin since 2002. The perpetrators of the insurance fraud scheme listed above have destabilized the care and welfare of Mr. Zachary Griffin with their criminal actions and absurd conduct. This conduct has spun Zachary into a violent emotional and mental depression.

Everett Reid (minor) - Stacy & Matt Reid (Parents)

Everett Reid is a minor student approximately 16 years old. Mr. Reid performed chores such as car washing and lawn mowing for Mr. Griffin in 2021 and 2022 with the permission of his Parents Matt & Stacy Reid. Mr. Griffin met Matt Reid in 2015 and Stacy Reid in 2018. The Reid family lives in Maple Bluff, WI, immediately next door to south of Marvin Levy. Everett and his parents are complicit straw victims in the insurance fraud scheme designed by Mr. Lee, Ms. Luther, Ms. Prestigiacamo, Mr. Nystrom, and Marvin and Jeff Levy. All are parties to conspiracy to commit insurance fraud.

Jack Rectenwald (minor) - (parents Mr. & Mrs. John Rectenwald)

Jack is a Minor student approximately 15 years old. He provided occasional assistance to Everett Reid (minor) with car washing, lawn mowing, and chores on Mr. Griffin's property in 2021 and 2022 with the permission of his parents. The Rectenwald's live in close proximity to Mr. Marvin Levy. Jack and his parents are potential complicit parties in the insurance fraud scheme designed by Mr. Nystrom, Mr. Lee, Ms. Luther, Ms. Prestigiacamo, Mr.

Nystrom, and Marvin and Jeff Levy. All are parties to conspiracy to commit insurance fraud.

Alex Morrow (minor) - Bruce Morrow (Parent)

Alex morrow is a minor student approximately 15 years old. She performed lawn mowing at Mr. Griffin's property under the direction of her father during the summer of 2023. The Morrow family lives approximately 100 yards from Mr. Griffin. During the lawn care, Alex usually always wore Ray-ban Meta smart glasses, secretly recording Mr. Griffin inside his home. Mr. Griffin drew up a nice one page scope of work upon hiring her and used it to show her how things work in real world. The document specified requested days and times for the mowing which were Mondays and Thursdays. These times were specifically requests as they were the least likely times that Marvin levy would be around and unable to fixate and harasses Alex. Further, Mr. Griffin told Marvin when he kept asking about Alex that "she has Asperger, don't talk to her"! He did so as a workaround, knowing that Marvin refuses to talk to "anyone on the spectrum". This approach worked with limited results as he continued to obsess over Alex, even after Mr.Griffin asked him not to bother her so that she could complete her lawn mowing in peace.

Jane Doe

Jane Doe is a minor student approximately 4 years old. She is believed to live at 265 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704 with her Father. Mr. Griffin has never meet Jane Doe. Mr. Griffin has never meet Jane Doe's Father. Mr. Griffin has seen the pair in their front yard playing at 265 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704 on his drives to and from his residence and the Maple Bluff Country Club. In summer of 2022, and in summer 2023, Mr. Griffin recalls Jane Doe and her father walking by his residence dozens of times from his windowed vantage point in his front home office, facing Roxbury Rd. This caught Mr. Griffin's attention due its frequency and the busy nature of the Sherman Ave / Roxbury area with 12,000 cars per day on average, and the fact they lived on a very quite street a few blocks away. Mr. Griffin believes this was her father's attempts to familiarize her with Mr. Griffin's home and area, grooming her as a straw victim of child enticement following the hatching of the plot in June 2022 with the Levy Brothers, Foley attorneys, and Chief Tanner Nystrom. Mr. Griffin further believes that any parent of a child this age would walk them away from busy streets and traffic, not towards busy streets and traffic.

Attorney Kevin Trost

Mr. Trost is a former partner level attorney with Axley Attorneys in Madison, WI, employed there through 2021. He is now in private practice under Trost Law LLC, 30 West Mifflin St, 10th floor, Madison, WI 53703. Mr. Griffin met Mr. Trost in 2021. Mr. Griffin hired Mr. Trost to Evict Ms. Holt from his residence in 2021 following the discovery of electronic evidence which supported his prior conclusion of a failed homicide plot orchestrated by Ms. Covington and Ms Holt at Hubbards lodge near Yellowstone National Park in the summer of 2020. Attorney Trost and Mr. Griffin both reported this homicide plot to the Maple Bluff Police Department, and the department's chief, Tanner Nystrom. Mr. Nystrom refused to take the report, refused to take the report of conspiracy to commit homicide seriously, and refused to investigate the crime of conspiracy to commit homicide. Mr. Marvin Levy procured the firing of Mr. Trost in 2021 with cash payments made to Axley Attorneys managing partner and Sabotage in a effort to protect his ex-girlfriend Ms. Elizabeth Covington.

Touch of Europe Cleaning, LLC - Ava Palek

Touch of Europe Cleaning LLC is a cleaning contractor located in Wanaukee, WI. Mr. Griffin met it's owner, Ava Palek in 2020. Mr. Griffin hired the company to provide regular bi-weekly residential cleaning at his home from 2020-2023. Foley & Lardner Attorney Mr. Matt D. Lee, Attorney Jennifer Luther, and Attorney Antonia Prestigiacamo, as well as Mr. Nystrom, and Marvin and Jeff Levy arranged a straw marriage in Las Vegas, NV between Mr. Derick Moore and a none American citizen who is a relative of Ava Palek. These efforts were designed to circumvent and nullify Mr. Griffin and Mr. Moore's long standing same sex domestic partnership registered in Dane County, WI, 2013-2023, which is functionally viewed as a marriage, and thus robbing Mr. Griffin and Mr. Moore of the right's and privacy that accompany such a union. It was done without Mr.Griffin's knowledge. This absurd act was done under the pretext to further the addenda of the insurance fraud scheme against Mr. Griffin, an insured policy holder of a subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (NYSE: BRK.a & BRK.b)

University of Wisconsin Madison Police Department

The University of Wisconsin Madison Police department serves the students and staff of the University Madison and is the captive law enforcement agency of the institution. The UW Madison Police department employ's Mr. Derek Austin. Mr. Austin violated Mr. Griffin's rights of private property and unreasonable search and seizure on the evening of October 2nd, 2023 by refusing to leave his property when asked and taking photographs on his cell phone without permission of confidential client information of Mr. Griffin's business without his or their consent. These documents included client's personal data and information.

Paul Fenn

Mr. Fenn is a defunct assistant golf professional, previously employed by the Maple Bluff Country Club. Mr. Fenn is currently employed by Urban Land Interests, Inc. as the community manager of Urban Suites since 2021. Mr. Griffin met Mr. Fenn in 2015. Mr. Griffin has a long standing downtown office at Urban Suites and previously at Industrious since 2018. Mr. Fenn, under the direction of Brad Bincowski, the owner of Urban Land Interests, used his master key to to access Mr. Griffin's downtown office without authorization. This unauthorized access was used to plant physical, biological, and fiber evidence in Mr. Griffin's office suite. Examination revealed this evidence included hairs, fibers and biological material planted on his blue carpet square floor coverings, office furniture, chairs, and desks. Additionally, Mr. Griffin's business computer system and network were accessed without authorization by Mr. Fenn, Mr. Binkowski, and other Urban Land Interest Associates. A review of the access revealed a search history of child pornography as well as 4 additional and unknown computer systems linked to Mr. Griffin commercial cloud system accounts. Further, proprietary clients records and data which contained client personal information containing personal information were, duplicated, and manipulated without Mr. Griffin's knowledge, presence, or permission in violation of his lease agreement with Urban Land Interests.

Edge Construction Services, Inc.

Edge Construction Services, Inc. provides construction services and remodeling in the Madison, WI area. Edge construction Services, Inc., based upon exterior yard signage, performed remodeling services for Mr. Lee at his Maple Bluff, WI home in 2022 & 2023 located at 208 Lakewood Blvd. Mr. Lee lives approximately 600 yards away from Mr. Griffin. Jeff Levy provided compensation to the Construction contractor for the extensive remodeling work in a successful effort to turn Mr. Lee into an adverse party to Mr. Griffin, who was his legal client and solidify his participate in the insurance fraud scheme perpetrated against Mr. Griffin, and insured policy holder of a subsidiary insurance company of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (NYSE: BRK.a & BRK.B).

Mr. Griffin believes that it was Jeff Levy specifically making the payments through his general construction contractor, Simon Builders, a general contractor, who he used to remodel just one half of his Lakewood Drive house in 2022. In 2022, Simon Builders then paid Edge construction as a sub contractor for the work at Mr. Lee's house as additional enticement for the participation to scam Mr. Griffin who was his own paying client.

Earlier in the spring of 2022, before meeting or hiring Foley and Lardner, Jeff told Mr. Griffin during Golf at the Maple Bluff Country Club, "that he intended to remodel the whole home at one time because it required that he move out of the property for several weeks due to the dramatic nature of the remodeling." Jeff ultimately changed course without explanation and when pressed he said "it was too expensive"

Based upon Jeff's significant wealth and the obvious common sense of doing the interior remodeling project all at once, it's quite obvious that the project was bisected on purpose and was done so to perform the second half of the remodeling now in, which began in October 2023, and is running concurrent with Mr. George Cullen's remodel project that began in September 2023. This would allow both Jeff and George to make their secondary payments of construction work to the straw victims of the insurance fraud scheme, to close out their owed obligations to these multiple parties.

Those secondary payments, hidden in the Construction bids of R.H. Harriman and Simon Builders are going to Paramount roofing (for the new metal roof at Jane Doe's father house at 265 Kensington Dr.) and Badgerland exteriors (at Mr. Griffin's immediate neighbors, the Reid's, and the immediate north neighbor to Jane Doe at 269 Kensington dr.) to complete the compensation and favors needed for their help. Ultimately, this was a bad "investment" on behalf of the Cullen's and the Levy's because there will not be a recovery on Mr. Griffin's $5,000,000 policy through Berkshire Hathaway Inc., but rather, a recovery from them.

Urban Land Interests, Inc.

Urban Land Interests, Inc. provides office leasing and residential apartment rentals in the Madison Area. They primarily focus on the office sector and own numerous buildings on Madison's Capitol Square. Brad Binkowski

Mr. Binkowski is the owner of Urban Land Interests, Inc. and co-operates the business with his son and Thomas Neujahr. Mr. Binkowski is close friends with Village of Maple Bluff Trustee Jim Schuler. Mr. Schuler received illegal cash payments and and additional non monetary compensation in the form of vacations from Greg rice for his support and approval of the Gordon Apartment building and it adjoining Tax Increment Financing application in Maple Bluff, WI. Mr. Binkowski is the conduit between trustee Jim Schuler, Tanner Nystrom, and the insurance fraud parties, and permitted inappropriate access to Mr. Griffin's office suite, in collaboration with Paul Fenn, in a building that he owns. This access was unauthorized and not permitted, especially for the criminal nature that is was used for.

This unauthorized access was used to access Mr. Griffin's private computer equipment, and to plant hair, fiber, and biological evidence inside of Mr. Griffin's office suite, in support of an insurance fraud scheme meant to defraud Mr. Griffin and his insurer, a subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway Inc out of $5,000,000. This planted evidence and commandeered access was meant to support fictitious crimes of electronic access of child pornography within Mr. Griffin's Office, as well as support a child enticement, both of which never occurred..

Mr. Rice provided cash payments, vacations, gifts, and a watercraft to Village of Maple Buff trustees to gain approval of the Gordon Apartment Building in Maple bluff as well as approval of it's adjoining Tax increment financing package, which was fictitious.

The Tax Increment financing application's pro-forma financial data and projections were a shame. This enabled the defrauding of Village of Maple Bluff tax payers out of 1,500,000 - 2,000,000 USD over the life of the TIF. To cover up the scam, Village Trustees raised property taxes on residents by nearly 20% annually in 2021. Village president Tim O'Brien quickly resigned following the approval of the a TIF payments to Mr. Rice. Village Administrator Tim Krueger was "involuntarily retired" shortly after the approval of the TIF payments to Mr. Rice. Attorney Eric McCloud resigned following the approval of the TIF payments to Mr. Rice. Trustee Carl Vieth quickly disappeared at well.

Capitol Bankshares, Inc. DBA Capitol Bank

Capital Bankshares, Inc is a private, stock based corporation that does business as Capitol Bank with three locations in the Madison area. Mr. Griffin met employees and members of the board of directors of Capitol Bankshares, Inc., as early as 2014. These individuals included Ken Thompson, the CEO at the time, Derrick Morring, the senior lender, and Gerry Peterson of the board of directors who was a fellow member in the Maple Bluff Country Club. Capitol Bank holds a non agency backed (non Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac) 1st mortgage against Mr. Griffin's home at an approximate 3% interest rate.

Market rates for mortgages now approach 8% as of the filling of this claim, with bank deposit rates above 5%. Capitol bank was a participating financing bank with Monona bank (now Lake Ridge Bank) on the Gordon Apartment Project at 628 N Sherman Ave. Monona Bank (now Lake Ridge Bank) is headed by Paul Hoffman. Paul Hoffman's wife's three grocery stores are customers of Phillips distribution Corporation, which is controlled by Marvin and Jeff Levy. Jeanne Cullen is a board of director for Capitol Bank east in Sun Prairie, WI and would have access to the bank's loan book and records.

Mr. Griffin and Mr. Cullen were occasional friends in childhood but are not so today.

Jeanne Cullen

Jeanne Cullen is a co-principal at J.P. Cullen Construction in Janesville, WI with her brother, George Cullen. In addition to her construction services work, she is a board of director at Capitol Bank East in Sun Prairie, WI. Mr. Griffin met Ms. Cullen in the mid 1990's in Janesville, WI. As a board of director at Capitol Bank, Ms. Cullen would have access to Capitol Banks loan book and records and be able to see Mr. Griffin's mortgage loan at a below market interest rate of 3% at Capitol Bank. This loan is not agency backed which means the bank is using it's own money to make the loan. Based upon current mortgage interest rates, this would suggest that Capitol Bank is subsidizing approximately $16,000 of interest per year to hold Mr. Griffin's 30 year Mortgage loan. Even utilizing just net deposit costs of over 5%, it is producing a negative net interest margin on the loan of over 200 basis points, costing the bank over $6000 per year to hold the loan compared to short term treasuries. After Mr. Griffin's false arrest, the bank planned to foreclose on the property.

R.G. Harriman General Contractors, RG Harriman Inc.

Harriman General construction is a construction services general contractor. They are currently providing major remodeling services to George Cullen at his Maple Bluff, WI home beginning in October 2023. Harriman General Construction is currently subcontracting roofing work for George Cullen's property in Maple Bluff, WI to Paramount Roofing, who is reroofed George and Mary Cullen's house. Harriman subcontracted Paramount to provide payment for metal roofing services paramount is providing to the Father of "Jane Doe" at 265 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704, one of the straw victims.

On R.G. Harriman's website at rgharriman.com, under the references section, Brad Binkowski of Urban Land interests, a party in this section, provides a glowing review of Bob Harriman. "Bob Harriman has the energy, experience, attention to detail, and the drive to make valuable contributions to any construction project. Whenever one of the inevitable problems which are inherent in construction occurred, Bob has gone the extra step to make sure the issue is resolved to everyones's satisfaction".

Further, R.G. Harriman Inc. is a tenant in Mr. Binkowski's building at 10 East Doty St. Suite 421, Madison, WI 53703. Additionally, R.G. Harriman provided buildout and construction services to the Law firm of Hurley and Burish S.C.

Hurley and Burish, S.C., and specifically Steve Hurley, was chronically recommended by Mr. Marvin Levy to Mr. Griffin in the immediate weeks leading up to the Claim date and failed raid attempt by Police at Mr. Griffin's residence. Mr. Griffin advised Mr. Levy that he appreciated it but had no use for Steve Hurley as he had not been committing any crimes and didn't plan to in the future.

Mr. Griffin can only surmise that Marvin Levy was seeking a revenue share from Hurley & Burish, S.C., after Mr. Griffin was to be raided, falsely arrested, charged, spend his entire life savings trying to save his freedoms with Steve Hurley of Hurley and Burish S.C., only to be convicted of fictitious crimes that Marvin Levy and the insurance fraud parties assisted in orchestrating and planting the evidence to support.

Badgerland exteriors is providing exterior work to the immediate north neighbor of Jane Doe and her father, that neighbor is located at 269 Kensington Dr, Madison, WI 53704. This neighbor was to or has already acted as a "witness" to the fictitious and stage enticement of Jane Doe, which never actually occurred.

Hurley & Burish S.C. Law firm

Steve Hurley and Mark Burish are the proprietors of Hurley & Burish S.C. Steve Hurley is a criminal defense and litigation attorney, while Mark Burish fashions himself as a venture capitalist and business "rainmaker". Mark Burish is on the board of directors of Lake Ridge Bank (Monona Bank). Mr. Burish and Paul Hoffman enabled the calling of loans belonging to a separated client of Mr. Griffin, for which Foley attorney Mr. Matt Lee represented Mr. Griffin. Foley Attorney Matt Lee was responsible in orchestrating this with Mark Burish and Paul Hoffman, at the request of Marvin Levy. These violations of public banking trust took place without Mr. Griffin's knowledge, discussion, or consent. These actions by Attorney Lee were intentional, retaliatory in nature, and meant to draw unearned government scrutiny towards Mr. Griffin and his business. This was in support of Marvin Levy, Jeff Levy, Matt Lee, Antonia Prestigiacamo, Jennifer Luther, Shannon Holt, and Tanner Nystrom's Insurance conspiracy scheme against a subsidiary Insurance company of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (NYSE:BRKa & BRK.b) in efforts to tap into Mr. Griffin's massive umbrella insurance coverage limits. Hurley and Burish S.C. Stood to gain presumably hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal fees from Mr. Griffin if he had used them as repeatedly recommended and demanded by Marvin Levy in the weeks leading up to this claim, following his false arrest that Marvin was ultimately responsible for orchestrating, planting the evidence for, and financially benefit from.

The Foley & Lardner attorneys violated their duty of care to Mr. Griffin and acted inappropriately and did so unnecessarily after being hired to resolve a reasonably basic business dispute. This followed a brief no strings attached sexual encounter between Foley & Lardner Attorney Matt lee and Mr. Griffin at the Maple Bluff Country Club, for which Mr. Griffin found no issue with, but for which successfully spun Attorney Matt Lee into a panic. Mr. Griffin believes from personal experience, and from previous sexual encounters with other heterosexual men, that it may be due to his publicly facing heterosexual persona & lifestyle or the fact that the male on male sexual encounter violated his deeply held religious beliefs.

These agency backed Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac loans of Mr. Griffin's separating client were not late on payments and Lake Ridge Bank (Monona Bank) was simply the servicer on these government guaranteed mortgage debts. An insured bank acting in this fashion is strictly forbidden under Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac federal guidelines. It is further in violation of rules and guidance provided by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)

Lake Ridge Bank (Monona Bank) had previously did the same thing to Mr. Griffin in 2015, calling a currently paid mortgage loan with no reasonable explanation, after he opposed a previous apartment building proposal, at the site of 628 N Sherman Ave, Maple Bluff, WI 53704 that they were looking to provide financing for to Joe McCormick. Based on this personal experience, and the experience of Mr. Griffin's former client, Mr. Griffin believes that Lake Ridge Bank engages in this conduct on a regular bases as part of their standard operating procedure.

Since these experiences, Mr. Griffin only recommends large, well capitalized national banks such as Chase, Citibank, and PNC to friends and clients so that the promises made in the loan agreements are actually kept by the bank.

Paramount roofing

Paramount Roofing is a roofing construction contractor currently providing subcontracted roofing work to Harriman General Construction on the property of George Cullen, at his personal residence in Maple Bluff, WI (November 10-13th 2023). Paramount is also providing roofing services to the father of straw victim "Jane Doe" (minor student approximately 4 years old) at 265 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704. These services are being provided simultaneously to those at George Cullen's home (November 10-13th 2023). The roof at 265 Kensington Dr. has sat unfinished for more than a year and a half with just Ice and water shield paper attached. Mr. Griffin believes the home's owner has encountered financial difficulty finishing the home remodeling project and that he was recruited to provide use of his minor daughter as a straw victim against Mr. Griffin, in exchange for a new metal roof and additional cash payments from George Cullen, Jeff Levy, and Marvin Levy. Further, Badgerland exteriors is providing exterior services to Jane Doe's Father's immediate north neighbor at 269 Kensington Dr, Madison, WI 53704. This party was to or already has acted as a witness in the staged and fictitious enticement of Jane Doe, by Mr. Griffin, which never actually occurred.

Badgerland Exteriors

Badgerland exteriors is a contractor providing services to home exteriors. They are currently providing exterior services to Emily Dudak Leiter and her husband at 204 Kensington Drive Maple Bluff, WI 53704 as of early November 2023 based upon yard signage. Emily and her husband are abutting neighbors to Mr. Griffin's back yard to the immediate west of his property.

Badgerland Exteriors is also simultaneously providing exterior services to Mr. Griffin's abutting neighbor at 200 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704 simultaneously to those provided next door at 204 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704. Further, Badgerland exteriors is providing exterior services including a large tree removal at Peggy and Rodger Gierhart's property at 201 Kensington Dr. Maple Bluff, WI 53704. These three properties are being serviced by Badgerland exteriors simultaneously during the month of November 2023, in addition to Jane doe's Father's immediate north neighbor's property located at 269 Kensington Dr, Madison, WI 53704.

Mr. Griffin, having lived in his residence for many years has never seen either of these three adjacent neighbors hire any constructions contractors what so ever, nor has he seen three projects performed simultaneously at these properties utilizing professional contractors. Mr. Griffin believes that R.G. Harriman General Constructors, and by extension, George Cullen, as well as Jeff Levy, and by extension Simon Builders, are the paying agents for Badgerland Exteriors at these three adjacent properties abutting Mr.Griffin's residence, as well as the immediate north neighbor of Jane Doe's Father's property at 265 Kensington Dr, Madison, WI 53704 and Badgerland exteriors work at Matt and Stacy Reid's home at 915 Farwell Dr, Madison, WI 53704.

The immediate north neighbor to Jane Doe and her father located at 269 Kensington Dr, Madison, WI 53704 would have been meant to act, or has acted as a witness already, to the alleged and staged child enticement of Jane Doe, by Mr. Griffin, which never actually occurred.

This construction labor is meant as a payment in kind for assisting Mr. Nystrom and parties in the proposed insurance fraud scheme and false criminal impugnment of Mr. Griffin.

Sequence of Relevant and supporting Events

2018-2023 - Maple Bluff, WI

Former Maple Bluff Police Chief and Former Village President Timothy O'Brien contacted Mr. Griffin and asked him to participate in a new experimental public safety program within the Village of Maple Bluff. The details were initially vague but Mr. Griffin stood by as details emerged on the plans for the program. Some weeks later, Village President Timothy O'Brien, visited Mr. Griffin and explained that the Village was having issues with crime in the neighborhood and that they were looking for a way to more closely monitor activities near his home and the immediate "downtown" Maple Bluff area near the intersection of Sherman Ave & Commercial Ave. Mr. Griffin explained that he had noticed similar criminal and nuisance activity near the Lakewood Plaza at 621 N Sherman Ave. Mr. Griffin further elaborated that he noticed a surge in this sort of activity during the evening hours.

Presumable this made sense because the Liquor store in Maple Bluff (Vic Pierce Liquor) is one of two licensed retailers within Dane County, WI that are allowed to sell until 12:00PM, instead of the usual cut off time of 9PM at all other stores. Mr. O'Brien suggested that they were looking to install some cameras in the area and asked Mr. Griffin if he would host the cameras at his home. Initially perplexed by the hosting concept, Mr. Griffin said he would do what he could to help and that him and Mr. O'Brien were on the same page as far as prioritizing safety in the immediate area. Mr. Griffin asked Mr. O'Brien to propose something and that they could talk about it further at that point. Mr. Griffin didn't hear anything for some additional weeks.

After this elapsed time, Former Village Police Chief, Tim Krueger, stopped by to talk to Mr. Griffin about more details of this experimental program. The former Chief said they were looking to install some cameras on the east side of his home to keep an eye on this liquor store and to monitor "our friends visiting from up on Northport". Mr. Griffin believed Tim Krueger was referring to the predominately African American neighborhood near Sherman Ave. and Northport Drive, in the City of Madison. Once again perplexed, Mr. Griffin asked why they didn't just change the selling time of the liquor store back to 9PM like everywhere else and the problem would solve itself. Mr. Krueger became physically annoyed by this suggestion and asked, "well, are you going to support our safety or not!?", spoken in a sharper tone. It was later discover that Chief Krueger wanted the cameras installed to he could count the liquor stores customers and shake them down for a revenue share from the owner during the after 9pm selling time for perceive "police protection". Mr. Griffin reiterated that he'd do anything to help and asked the chief to propose something, perhaps in writing and let him know once it was available for review. Mr. Krueger became more annoyed and huffed off and left the premises.

A few days later Mr. Krueger returned to Mr. Griffin's residence and asked if he had any other questions before moving forward and that the village board was eager to proceed. Mr. Griffin asked the Chief if he would have access to the cameras, and he assured Mr. Griffin that he would. Mr. Griffin then showed Mr. Krueger that his home was pre-wired for additional security cameras at other strategic locations around the home such as point of entry and exit, as well as the garage. Mr. Krueger suggested that the Village might be willing to install cameras at the other locations and give him access to the footage. Mr. Griffin was already planning to install security cameras at some point and Mr. Krueger suggested that only he and the Police department would have access and that it would be like having "built in police protection". This hit a cord for Mr. Griffin, who had previously been a victim of domestic violence and has a rough upbringing. Mr. Griffin shook Mr. Krueger's hand and said that he'd be willing to help out. The conversation ended shortly there after.

A few weeks later, Chief Krueger stopped by again and said that the Village was contracting with ASI Security in Madison, WI for the installation. He further said that the Village would provide a small reimbursement to cover power and internet connectivity, which would work out to approximately $200 per year. Mr. Krueger said that the Village would maintain the equipment. The installation was to commence once the cameras were ordered and the technicians were ready to go.

Some additional weeks had passed and Mr. Griffin was working on some other projects when ASI Security arrived for the install and didn't think to question what they were doing. He left the home and returned towards the end of the day to the residence. Upon return

Mr. Griffin was shocked to find installed camera similar in size and shape to those on shopping center malls. The Dome cameras installed under the soffits were approximately 9 inches in diameter and 7 inches in height. Near the south east corner of Mr. Griffin's home AIS Security installed, facing Sherman Avenue, two larger cameras. One was a super sized dome camera, power over ethernet, with swivel zooming and panning lenses, approximately the size of a cantaloupe or honey dew melon. The second camera was a large license plate reading camera that Mr. Griffin immediately code named "the duck" due to its similar size and shape of a mallard or duck. This camera was pointed at Sherman Ave, at an approximately 45 degree angle and meant to scan or record license plate of traffic traveling southbound on Sherman Ave. Immediately concerned, Mr Griffin stopped to talk to Mr. Krueger at the Village hall. Upon arriving, Mr. Krueger demeanor was cold and uncooperative and he said that the the Village had paid a lot of money for the system and that Mr. Griffin would have to live with the style and size of the camera system. Further perplexed, Mr. Griffin said this was not what was discussed and that he was not OK with this bait and switch approach. Mr. Krueger became angry and said he had a meeting that he had to run to and left the front office area. Mr. Griffin left and returned to his residence.

Nothing happened for about a week until Mr. Griffin returned to the Village hall to follow up on the status of the camera system. In the preceding week he had lived as normal in his residence without access to the camera's footage as promised. This created a strange and worrisome feeling for Mr. Griffin as he was feeling like a "lab rat" being filmed without his permission at his own home by a total of 7 fixed point cameras covering all entrances and exits to his home. Mr. Krueger "wasn't available" right away and Mr. Griffin stopped back to see him later that day. The Chief at this point was quite disrespectful to Mr. Griffin and refused payment for the promised $200 yearly stipend and further refused Mr. Griffin access to the camera's live footage, which was being recorded by a central hard drive system installed in Mr. Griffin's basement utility room by ASI Security, Inc. Upset and confused Mr. Griffin left the Village hall and returned to his residence. He thought long and hard about what to do next as he didn't want to make waves in his new community nor did he want to upset the Police Department.

"Don't fight city hall" Mr. Griffin's Grandfather used to say, continued to cross his thoughts. Mr. Griffin then let the situation continue for another week or ten days before deciding that this must not stand any longer. He had decided that the system must be removed and began taking action to compel it's removal from his home. First, Mr. Griffin terminated power to the system's hard drive receiver located in his basement utility room and disconnected it from all installed cabling. He then wrapped the unit in a towel as to not damage it and drove it to the Village of Maple Bluff Hall. He turned the unit into Renee at the front counter and requested a receipt for the equipment. The returned unit was similar in size to a 1990's VCR and Mr. Griffin was issued a receipt that stated that he had returned the "VCR". Mr. Krueger came around the corner of the office visibly angry and asked "what in the hell" Mr. Griffin was doing!? Mr. Griffin advised the chief that he wanted to remove himself this experimental security program, he thanked Tim for allowing him to participate, and that he wanted the cameras removed as soon as was feasible. Mr. Krueger as completely livid and this point and Mr. Griffin took the receipt and exited the village hall in quick order.

Some days later Mr. Griffin, was awakened to the sounds of ladders banging and power tools being used on the outside of his home. This was ASI Security, Inc. working without announcing themselves at Mr. Griffin's home, removing the camera equipment. Mr. Griffin went outside to see what they were doing and how they were (dis) respecting his home.

The crews were very angry and unprofessional towards Mr. Griffin. They caused damage to the home during the removal including scratched and scuffs on his siding and soffits, drill marks and holes, left unfilled, and the crews went as far a sabotaging Mr. Griffin's CAT6 networking cables in his soffits by cutting off the ends of the cables and trimming the cords, which had significant excess cable footage at each camera location by design, short. The AIS crews further shoved the cables deep within the soffit's so that it would be nearly impossible to utilized his CAT6 hard wired system again without cutting into the soffits with a saw, opening them, and rewiring extensions on to each segment of the seven total cable runs. Mr. Griffin never bothered to go through this agony to repair these cables back to their original condition.

Deeply upset with what had taken place, Mr. Griffin retuned to the Village Hall to speak with Chief Krueger about the incident. Mr. Krueger was standoffish and said the "you've made your bed and now you have to sleep in it" and shewed Mr. Griffin out of the Village Hall office. Sensing an impasse, Mr. Griffin left and returned home.

On his was to dinner that evening with Mr. Marvin Levy, Mr. Griffin received an angry verbal lashing, from Mr. Levy, who was heavily intoxicated and driving Mr. Griffin in his Dark Blue Mercedes Benz SUV on Gorham St., in the city of Madison, near the University campus.

"Whoever is in control of the cameras is in control of the power" Mr. Levy yelled to Mr. Griffin! Mr. Griffin replied that he wasn't interested in this kind of power and was seeking peace and privacy. Mr. Levy then proceeded to have a meltdown, further yelling at Mr. Griffin on their way to the Laurel tavern on Monroe St. in the City of Madison. Things quieted down and the two had a meal at the tavern. Mr. Levy refused Mr. Griffin's attempts to allow Mr. Griffin to drive the pair back to Maple Bluff. Mr. Levy drove Mr. Griffin heavily intoxicated back to Maple Bluff.

Events following the surrender and removal of the ASI Security Inc. municipal cameras from Mr. Griffin's home

Mr. Griffin received quite the backlash from the Village of Maple Bluff and it's officials following the removal of the camera systems from his home. Village staff and outside contractors and inspectors hired by the Village began to harass Mr. Griffin for faux and non existent code violations. Some of the harassments included refusing to pick up Mr.

Griffin's garbage despite it being placed out on time and in the proper location at curbside. Violations and orange tickets issues for his recyclable's contains citing improper sortation and mixed material violations. The Village used the recyclables contractor at the time, Waste Management, Inc. (NYSE: WM), as a proxy, to pursue these false and inaccurate violations. Under the direction of Tim Krueger, Village sanitation staff would frequently refuse to pick up his yard waste, despite it being placed in the proper location curbside. He would receive violations and written notes that the yard waste did not conform to standards, despite it being the obvious yard waste that one might expect from a yard such as leave, twigs, small branches that any yard would generate. Mr. Krueger further utilized the Village's building inspector, Kelly Green, to leave notes and requests to enter for additional inspections.

Mr. Griffin believes this to be obvious harassment as the home recently completed ground up remodeling and passed all inspections with Kelly Green years prior. The most egregious was Mr. Krueger hiring an outside company, paid for at the Village's expense, to inspect and bore into the earth to suggest problems with Mr. Griffin's underground sewer laterals. These workers confronted Mr. Griffin at his front door about these "violations" and Mr. Griffin was successful in shewing them away by giving them a couple of pieces of used furniture that he had planned to donate to charity. The furniture was a set of 4 modern styled bar stools. Mr. Griffin provided two of them to the workers. Due to the set being incomplete, he gave the remaining two to his friend, Charlie Hackworthy of Minneapolis, MN. Charlie's Mother (a Village of Maple Bluff resident) stopped to pick up the two modern bar stools that same day.

Mr. Griffin started to hear from and see increased activity from the Village's Police Department after removing the cameras. This included officers constantly sitting in front of or near Mr. Griffin's home and officers utilizing binoculars to observe Mr. Griffin or look at him inside his home. Additionally, it including officers positioning themselves in such a way in the evening hours in the Lakewood Shopping Center parking lot, as to shine their headlights and spotlights directly into the east and southeast side corner of Mr. Griffin's home. None the less, Mr. Griffin figured that these Officers would eventually get bored and find something else to spend their time on, regrettably this proved not to be the case as you will read later.

Maple Bluff's Tax Increment Financing District (TID)

The State of Wisconsin employs a development tool called tax increment financing. This is often used to spur development of housing and commercial projects which represent finished and functioning tangible real estate projects. A common application of this technique is to use properties located within TID districts and provide them with tax increment financing (TIF), which is essentially discounted property tax rates in future years of the property. Borrowing from the future, as they would say in Layman's terms. The period of lowered or no taxes is usually 20-25 years following the building or projects completion. An example would be a blighted or contaminated property that has remained as such for a long period of time due to the financial unfeasibility of its development due to remediation cost, being in a bad area, etc.

Maple Bluff created a TID district approximately ten years ago around 2014. This tax increment financing district encompasses the corner near Sherman Ave. and Commercial Ave. within the Village of Maple Bluff and extends roughly in a 1-2 city block radius of the corner and covers only commercially zoned property. It further covers the triangular parcel that was previously within the town of Burke. A map of the exact outlay of Maple Bluff's TID district is available at the Village center for review and was available previously on the Village of Maple Bluff website (removed-date unknown).

Mr. Griffin saw an opportunity to build a nice condominium housing project on the site of 628 N Sherman Ave. Madison, WI 53704. Beginning in 2015/2016, Mr. Griffin gained contractual control of the site with an offer to purchase from Greg Rice and Executive Management, Inc. He further performed due diligence on the site that included phase one and phase two environment, including soil core samples drilled to the water table at approximately 20 locations on the roughly one acre parcel. The environmental reports performed by SCS environmental, who Mr. Griffin hired, revealed that there was significant contamination under the ground from previous uses of the property which included a gas station with leaking underground storage tanks (LUST), as well as contamination from a dry cleaner that further chemically contaminated the site with toxic chemicals.

Clean up and remediation investigation of toxic chemicals at 624 N Sherman Ave. Madison, WI 53704

During Mr. Griffin's designing and proposal process of the Arcadia at Maple Bluff Condominium project, which was to be a 27 unit, owner occupied condominium project. It was to be build in three separate buildings, all brick construction on all four sides of the three builds and would have a central courtyard and garden in the middle, shielded from busy Sherman ave. The estimated cost of the contamination and clean up costs was to be between $600,000-1,000,000 USD over and above the hard costs, soft cost, and land costs of the new structure. This additional environmental cost was an estimate and could have come in higher according to conversations with SCS Environmental. Despite this bad news, Mr. Griffin pressed on with the development proposal because he strongly believed that the condominiums would sell quickly for the needed prices due to their proximity to the Maple Bluff Country Club and the fact that they were within the Village of Maple Bluff, one of the finest and highest income areas within the Madison area and the State of Wisconsin. Since no condominiums had been built since the Great Recession and crash in 2008, Mr. Griffin's research concluded the project was viable given the growth of Madison and Epic systems during the preceding years.

Mr. Griffin, a financial professional by trade, began to bid out the project's build costs and produced and submitted pro forma financial projections to the Village which included bids for all components of the building's envelope and substructure. McGann Construction in Madison assisted Mr. Griffin with these take off's based upon plans from Dimension IV architects in Madison. He then took these financial projections to the various committees and trustees for review and analysis for Village TIF contribution. These individuals included Trustee Timothy O'Brien, Trustee Kevin O'Driscoll, Trustee Jim Schuler, and Trustee Eric McCloud. Mr. McCloud was very supportive of the concept Mr. Griffin came up with because it was highly supported by the community and was owner occupied housing in a community that has over 95% owner occupied housing units. Trustee Timothy O'Brien and Trustee Kevin O'Driscoll had a different take on things. Mr. Jim Schuler suggested he could support the project with some caveats. Despite the communities overwhelming support of Mr. Griffin's condominium concept, Mr. O'Brien and Mr. O'Driscoll refused to offer their support and were utterly unhelpful and disrespectful.

Trustee Jim Schuler's attempts to procure a financial payment from Mr. Griffin during the Arcadia at Maple Bluff Condominium approval process and presentation

Mr. Griffin's experiences with Trustee Jim Schuler were asymmetrical to those of the other trustees and committee members. During the approval process and near key deadlines, Mr. Schuler would often make strange and unscheduled appearances at Mr. Griffin's home and office. Mr. Griffin recalls that Mr. Schuler would stop by when he was working in his front yard and try and make small talk, discussing Mr. Griffin's condominium proposal. These visits would coincide with, on, or near key dates for presentations and zoning approvals regard the project he was presenting.

Jim would often make comments like "everything has a price" or that he and Mr. Griffin should meet privately to discuss his plan further. Mr. Griffin rejected these unethical and illegal overtures and Mr. Schuler used his powers as a trustee to stall and delay Mr. Griffin's project, costing him significant extra money and time. He would further feed information back to the land's owner, Greg Rice, about the Village board's next actions and steps before they occurred in public meetings. Former Village Administrator and Police Chief, Tim Krueger, Mr. Rice's personal friend, would enable and contribute to these effort. Mr. Rice would then use this information to raise the selling price of the land on three separate occasions when Mr. Griffin needed an extension of time on the purchase contract to continue with the condominiums elongating approval process.

Greg Rice, who co-owned the property with his Father, the late Gordon Rice, would use these price increase intervals to hide the increased price from his Father in hopes of pocketing a higher amount of their split for himself at closing. Marty Rifkin was the negotiating Real Estate Broker on these Offers to Purchase. The price increases made no sense in actual reality since the land was contaminated and sat vacant for nearly 20 years.

Since Mr. Griffin was "pot committed" and had invested significant resources into the condominium project, Mr. Rice, with the help of Mr. Krueger and Mr. Schuler used this as an opportunity to extort Mr. Griffin for further funds on the land purchase contract.

After much effort and community support for Arcadia, over nearly a two year period, it became clear that without bribing one or more of the trustees, there would be no approval issued nor reasonable access to the tax increment financing necessary to make the project viable. Mr. Griffin does not do business in this fashion and he vividly recalls having to advise Jim Schuler on more than one occasion regarding this.

The Gordon Apartment Project Proposal and Presentation

After Mr. Griffin moved on from the Arcadia project and approval process, the site continued to sit empty due to the contamination and the circus like theatrics of having to deal with the unethical and self serving trustees that were involved back then. Greg Rice emerged with an apartment building plan for the site. The Sherman Ave and Roxbury Rd. drawings were nearly identical to Mr. Griffin's condominium plan, a two story, just less than 30 units building, but in a single building format with walk up access to the units from Sherman Ave and Roxbury Rd. Mr. Griffin had forecasted, with the help of McGann Construction, that his high end condominium quality building would cost 5.5 Million in total cost including land costs of $750,000 initially, and $900,000 after Mr. Rice's price three price increases. The environmental remediation costs were included in this 5.5 million number (5.65 million after land prices increases from Mr. Rice) utilizing 750k for remediation in the pro forma financial presentations.

Key differences in quality and materials versus the Arcadia at Maple Bluff condominium project

Although similar in basic two dimensional sketch up from Knothe and Bruce architecture in Middleton, WI from the Sherman and Roxbury elevation, there were many key differences between Mr. Griffin's and Mr. Rice's plans which made Mr. Rice's building cost significantly less to construct. These included Mr. Rice's building being a single building with a modified hip roof that is a much lower cost design than Mr. Griffin's all brick three building configuration. Mr. Rice's interior and exterior materials were lower end and lower quality than Mr. Griffin's proposal. Mr. Rice's building, as built, is only brick on the two sides of Sherman ave and Roxbury road, with basic hardy board siding on the other two sides. Mr. Rice's units use all in one "magic pack" in wall heating and HVAC units that are similar to those seen in B and C class roadside motels. These systems are in contrast to Mr. Griffin's Arcadia plan, which was specified to included high efficiency 95% efficient central heating and cooling in each unit. Mr. Griffin's condominiums where to include tech and smart home packages, high end lighting, and numerous electrical upgrades. Mr. Rice's apartment units do not include these. Mr. Griffin's plan specified hard wood cabinets, tile showers, tile floors, and California closets. Mr. Rice's building, as built, has cheap particle board cabinets, drop in plastic acrylic one piece tub and shower units, vinyl plank flooring, and wire closet shelves and rods.

A review of the aforementioned differences reveals a cost difference of $1,100,000-$1,300,000 million dollars less for rice's building in construction costs. Despite this, Mr. Rice's tax increment financing application to the Village of Maple Bluff suggested the building would cost over $6,000,000 Million to construct plus remediation costs. Mr. Rice already owned the Land. To get this pushed through with the inflated and padded costs in order to extract maximum TIF, Mr. Rice agreed to host the Village of Maple Bluff's municipal camera system on the Gordon Apartment Building. Mr. Rice was granted a 100% TIF reimbursement from Village Trustees at approval of the Gordon Apartment project based upon the hyper inflated numbers.

This essentially means that he will pay no property taxes whatsoever for the next 20 years on the building. Obviously, we know there is no such thing as free in this life. In this case, it means that all other property owner in Maple Bluff must subsidize Mr. Rice's shame on the Tax increment district. Exactly that occurred during the early part of the pandemic with the village board of trustees levying a property tax increase of almost 20% on everyone that owned property in the Village of Maple Bluff. Mr. Griffin can confirm this via his own property tax increase and he believes that all other residents received similar increases.

Mr. Griffin's observations of the construction process of the Gordon Apartments from his residence and the improper disposal of toxic soils and lack of remediation

After gaining approval of the project, The Village board decided that the street in front of Mr. Griffin's house should be closed completely for safety reasons during the construction process and was subsequently used as a staging area for materials for approximately one year. Mr. Griffin believes this to be pay back for him asking "too many questions" about the TIF offered to Mr. Rice after the Gordon Apartments were approved. Closing the street entirely was incongruent to how other projects are treated in other municipalities. Former Madison Alder and now Dane County Supervisor confirmed this to Mr. Griffin In person when they ran into each other in the City of Madison one day. Mr. Palm further said it was "utterly ridiculous" to close the street of Roxbury Rd., due to the site having immediate egress at the major intersection of Sherman Ave and Commercial Ave.

The Village and staff quickly became uncooperative answering any further questions about the Gordon project. Rumors in the neighborhood began to swirl that Mr. Rice did in fact did bribe one or more of the Village of Maple Bluff Trustees to gain approval of the project. It then became rumored, and ultimately clear that all of the trustees had a fork in the TIF pie. It was further discovered that the non monetary payments included vacations and a watercraft.

During the initial stages of excavation of the site, Mr. Griffin anticipated that he would see and observe environmental companies and remediation work happening. No environmental contractors were ever noticed on site despite Mr. Griffin working from home during the construction process and his front office and unobstructed window directly facing the construction site across that street. Joe Krupp of Krupp Construction in Madison was the General Construction Contractor for the project. Again perplexed, Mr. Griffin decided to look into the submitted financials for the TIF financing application again and compare those figures to his own figures for the previously proposed Arcadia at Maple Bluff Condominiums. Construction costed had remained stable during the period between the two projects although there were numerous abnormalities and inconsistencies in Mr. Rice's financial presentations. The most glaring was for the concrete construction and substructure, work being performed by Olson Toon Landscaping and Construction. Mr. Griffin had firm bids of just over $600,000 for the concrete and foundation work, while Mr. Rice's figures where approximately $1,000,000 for a much less complicated design. Also, Mr. Rice's figures were off base in electrical and plumbing, with less complicated designs and lower quality fixtures. Remediation came in much higher and other costs looked padded.

Toxic soils are required to be disposed of in a different manner than normal soil excavations and at an exceptional premium in price per cubic yard and per truckload. This is why remediation of contamination costs so much. In the following weeks, Mr. Griffin continued to watch, and to his dismay, no remediation took place of the toxic soils, what so ever. All was carted away in and dumped normally. There was no sortation of the soils which Mr. Griffin knew where in fact heavily contaminated as he himself performed the environmental testing earlier via soil core and laboratory testing.

A few days later, Mr. Griffin stopped down to discuss the happenings with former Village Administrator and Police Chief Tim Krueger. Upon mentioning what he had observed, Tim became visibly very angry, with piercing glassed over eyes. Mr. Griffin knew he had better let the issue lye for his own piece of mind and safety. Mr. Griffin knew from conversations years back that Mr. Krueger and Mr. Rice where close friends for many years.

Mr. Griffin had mentioned these observations to Mr. Marvin Levy, Mr. Jeff Levy, and Mr. Phil Woodman during their usual 7:30am Sunday golf game at Maple Bluff Country Club. After explain this to the other men, all had agreed that is was a giant scam perpetrated by Mr. Rice and Mr. Krueger in an effort to enrich themselves and to defraud the Tax Increment Financing district and by extension, the property tax payers of Maple Bluff, WI.

Mr. Griffin looked further into property records in the neighborhood and noticed that Mr. Olson from Olson Toon Landscaping and Construction had purchased a Home on Farwell Drive In Maple Bluff, only to own it for a abnormally short period of time and sell it. Mr. Griffin, based upon his fraud detection and forensic accounting experience, believed that this property was the vehicle used to launder the money owed to Mr. Rice for the inflated priced concrete work. Property records and mortgage records support this thesis and Mr.

Griffin believes a HELOC and/or funds paid at closing were the instruments used to pay back Greg Rice approximately $600,000-700,000 in kick back money for the concrete construction and unperformed contaminated soil excavation. Details in the TIF financing application are light regarding the environment remediation work to be performed and all of which simply did not occur based on Mr. Griffin's direct observations. Mr. Griffin presumes Mr. Olson and Mr. Krupp used additional cash payments to funnel the unused remediation funds and overbid of building components in the General construction bid back to Mr. Rice and Executive Management Inc. These funds were used to pay the Village of Maple Bluff trustees at the time their "Vig" or revenue share for approving the project financially designed to defraud village residents and tax payers.

In total, it appears that Greg Rice and Executive Management Inc. defrauded Maple Bluff Tax Payers of between $1,500,000 - $2,000,000 USD over the life of the Tax Increment Financing District , counting the unperformed environment remediation work taken as cash, the over estimation of construction costs, and the kick backs from construction contractors he used. This cause property taxes to rise nearly 20% on the average Maple Bluff home in 2021 and further beyond.

Tim Krueger's mysterious retirement just weeks after the discovery of fraud perpetrated on the tax increment district and village tax payers

Mr. Griffin noticed that Chief Krueger's retirement was abruptly announced and that he had already had his retirement party before the announcement was released around the time of Maple Bluff's annual summer Bocce tournament. Mr. Griffin ran into Tim at the event and received a piercing stare an the chief had visibly angry body language. Mr. Griffin concluded that Timothy O'Brien caught wind of the fraud and gave Mr. Krueger an ultimatum to retire or be fired. By retiring he was able to preserve his Wisconsin State Pension payments from the Wisconsin retirement system. (WRS). Timothy O'Brien refused to speak to Mr. Griffin after this incident and Mr. Griffin can only conclude that Mr. O'Brien was very angry that he elevating the existence of the fraud and embarrassed Mr. O'Brien by proxy.

Timothy O'Brien, promptly installed a new Village administrator and Police Chief following the mysterious and abrupt departure of Tim Krueger. The new administrator was to be Tanner Nystrom, a family friend and former Maple Bluff police officer. Mr. Griffin hadn't met or heard from Mr. Nystrom until 2023, primarily because he had no need to nor any interest in him. As you'll read below Mr. Nystrom has known and obsessed over Mr. Griffin for some time, presumably to please Mr. O'Brien, who is angry at Mr. Griffin for embarrassing him for his dereliction of duty as Maple Bluff Village President and allowing the community to be defrauded out of $1,500,000-2,000,000.

Financial fraud like this effects everyone in the community and Mr. Griffin is not sure that the elderly, or people trying to make ends meet on a tight budget, appreciate this kind of conduct taking place with no visible recourse to recover the funds from Mr. Rice or Executive Management Inc. Mr. Griffin further believes that they should not have their property taxes spike thousands of dollars per year just so Mr. O'Brien doesn't have to look bad or apologize for his screw up. Mr. Griffin finds this behavior extremely disconcerting considering the financial sophistication and licensure of Mr. O'Brien as a Chartered Financial Analyst and securities broker.

Mr. Griffin's discovery and investigation of employee theft, fraud, and embezzlement at the Maple Bluff Country Club

Mr. Griffin recalls the initial meeting with Roberta Dietrich in 2015 vividly. At the time, he was pushing hard to develop the digital accounting and bookkeeping portion of his business and suggested to Ms. Dietrich that he would be willing to install and train her and her staff on more modern bookkeeping software that was cloud based and mobile friendly. Mr. Griffin suggested that since he was new around the club and trying to make a name for himself, that he wouldn't charge the club for the services and hoped that this goodwill would propel additional and commercially profitable business to him from other parties if he did a nice job. Mr. Griffin further explained to Ms. Dietrich, that by allowing him to do this, it would result in much less paper and busy work for her and her staff. He further suggested that this would free up her time and allow her to focus the new found time on other duties or just keep the found time and enjoy a slower and easier position as accounting manager. Mr. Griffin received an evil and equally blank stare back after making the proposal. He suggested and asked to follow up with her and the board of directors about this soon. Ms. Dietrich never did follow up and never did suggest this concept to the board of directors. She further began to avoid Mr. Griffin from that point forward and her body language suggested that she felt threatened. This behavior reverted to a more active tone of hostility months and years later, Ms. Dietrich's condemnations of Mr. Griffin continued for the years following the initial discussions with her about moving to a digital accounting system that would free up her time and mitigate potential fraud. Mr. Griffin also lost interest in providing free services and advise to Ms. Dietrich, who didn't seem to appreciate Mr. Griffin's skills and abilities. Time and further observation would advise that there was logical rationale on Ms. Dietrich's part for rejecting Mr. Griffin's honest attempts to help the club.

Fast forwarding a couple years to 2018, Mr. Griffin was at the Maple Bluff Country Club having dinner and casually observing the body language and work processes of the staff near the old bar area from a high top table against the window. It became clear around this time that the member experience, food and beverage services, and staff attitudes were in an erosion-nary spiral. Mr. Griffin's experiences has tough him based upon previous cases, that this is indicative of internal theft and fraud accelerating. Essentially it is when the greed of the embezzling parties goes parabolic primarily due to them not getting caught, and continuing to take more and more money via theft. Mr. Griffin continued to observe the operations at the club for the next several weeks and was able to identify the issue as basic register and receipt fraud, with a twist.

Properly installed and designed internal financial controls provide multiple layers of oversight and checks and balances regarding approvals of who has authority over what and when with cash accounts, accounts receivable and accounts payable. Modern day accounting system and designs fixes a lot of these ideals and uses computer technology and digitization to add additional oversight and control.

MBCC's systems possessed none of these safeguards. It now made sense to Mr. Griffin as to why Ms. Dietrich wasn't interested in his modern cloud accounting software he discuss a few years earlier but rather preferred the clubs legacy, nearly 25 year old point of sale and register system. At that moment, Mr. Griffin can only surmise that this had to do with her part in the internal embezzlement and theft of member funds. He continued to look into things and began to bring the matter to the attention of the board of directors of the club but was dismissed by both Rick Searer and Jennifer Hussein. This was despite his financial reconstructions, comparing expected versus actual revenues to the membership roles and dues, by category, suggesting that over $625,000 was being embezzled on a yearly basis. Despite this, the board of directors couldn't be bothered.

The uproar of Maple Bluff Country Club Members due to the discovery of fraud & embezzlement & the subsequent cover up by the Board of Directors and President Trey Sprinkman

Through the years of 2018 and 2019 and membership experience continued to erode further and the membership continued to ask questions regarding the clubs financial position. Cash reserves of the club were eroding fast, and the board of directors began to cash in all short term investment and stock which was gifted to the club by a member in the amount of approximately $365,000 to fill the hole left by the pervasive embezzlement by staff.

The staff turn over rate had accelerated dramatically as dinning room and bar managers where skimming the employees tips with the help of Roberta Dietrich and then club manager A.J. Prathvarti. New team members would start working at the club, last for a short number of weeks after receiving their first paycheck or two, only to be shorted on their tips and earnings while the managers and Roberta Dietrich stole their hard earned money and acted like there was "just a accounting error", then agreeing to fix those errors for the staff but never following through and embezzling the money for themselves. Mr.

Griffin witnessed this first hand and all came to a head at the annual meeting for the club as the members teed off on the board of directors at the time. The directors were Rick Searer, the former head of Kraft Foods, Inc., Trey Sprinkman, the co-owner of Sprinkman Real Estate with his wife Shelly Sprinkman, Margaret Stauffacher, wife of hockey player Luke Stauffacher, Heidi Rozmerick, Kevin Noskowiak, formerly a Wisconsin CPA with BDO in Madison, now in private practice, as well as Jennifer Hussein and her husband Chris Hussein, a Boardman Clark attorney in Madison.

Despite these Directors impressive resumes and pedigrees, no one could come up with any answers as to the missing money, the recent terminations of numerous managers, or other important details that any meeting involving finances would include.

The club's CPA was mum as a church mouse and members each took their turn lambasting the board members. When it was Mr. Griffin's turn to speak, former club chef, Steve Hahn tried to interrupt him with a microphone, but Mr. Griffin shouted over him and the room began to boil over in anger. Immediately after, former club president, John Young, a local real estate developer, stood up and yelled that the meeting was over and everyone should head to the bar. To date, no further financial reports of projections have been issued to the membership by the Maple Bluff Country Club.

Also peculiar, exactly three years to the day from the aforementioned staff terminations, Roberta Dietrich left her employment at the Maple Bluff country club. Trey Sprinkman and the board of director concocted a scheme by which Roberta would be allowed to stay so as to not draw suspicion amongst the membership of the extent and depth of the embezzlement. They stripped of her cash control and duties, closely monitoring her, and allowing her to continue to soak up pay and benefits for the entire three years at her regular pay rate. This additional pay and benefits to Roberta, to enable the coverup, cost the club $550,000 additional dollars over three years. This was in addition to the millions that she had already embezzled during her multi-decade employment.

Ms. Covington and Ms. Holt's Failed homicide plot and Mr. Griffin's subsequent survival - Summer 2020

At the onset of the Covid-19 pandemic, Mr. Griffin worked at a feverish pace to assist individuals and business owners whose worlds were falling apart due to the financial effects of Covid and the shuttering of the U.S. economy.

One day in early June, out of the blue, and prior to Mr. Holt's eviction, both Shannon Holt and Elizabeth Covington were at Mr. Griffin's home and said "we're going to Yellowstone National Park next week, are you coming?" Nothing had been mentioned prior to the abrupt plan being announced. The hair on the back of Mr. Griffin's neck stood up. The reason for this was the fact that prior to this, both women, especially Ms. Holt, disagreed with Mr. Griffin on nearly everything or found fault in anything and everything related to making plans for out of home activities like dinner, travel, shopping, etc.

How were we going to travel against CDC guidelines, in the middle of the most piercing and unknown part of the pandemic, and both women were fine with it and not being disagreeable and annoying like usual, he began to wonder? They followed on by saying "we're taking the jet" referring to a private airplane. Ms. Covington had already commandeered access to Mr. Marvin Levy's private Jet. Mr. Griffin, having not been on a private plane before and having a lifelong passion for flight said "I guess we're going to Yellowstone next week!"

Knowing something was up, he decided to be on the lookout for problems and traps along the way. Elizabeth had started "dating" Marvin about a year and a half earlier. Mr. Griffin adds quotations on this as it didn't take more than a few seconds with Elizabeth back in the fall of 2018 when he first meet her to realize that she was a lesbian and had no actual interest or attraction to his friend Marvin, whatsoever. Mr. Griffin wasn't concerned about her ultimately as he had his own life and business to attend too. Despite that obvious detail of attraction missing, Marvin became obsessed and completely engrossed in Elizabeth within a week of meeting her. He would comment on scheduled walks with Mr. Griffin about how much he loved "her luscious fat rolls" and "those juicy fat tits", referencing her weight, and body type.

Marvin has fixations and obsessions with female's bodies and figures that neurotypical people might find obscene and disgusting. Mr. Griffin could tell it was futile to try and talk him off the ledge about Elizabeth, so he let things be and treated her like gold, similar to how he treats everyone. Mr. Griffin acknowledges that Marvin says a lot of strange things, but realizing and respecting the fact that he has Asperger's spectrum disorder and is profoundly disabled from an emotional intelligence and perceptive point of view. Mr. Griffin lets him off the hook frequently. Mr. Griffin, having interacted with people on the Asperger's spectrum his whole life, knows that you have no choice but to let them off the hook and forgive.

Out of respect to Marvin, Mr. Griffin lets him be himself at all times and requests the same in return. This is the key reason why Mr. Levy and Mr. Griffin's friendship had thrived for the better part of a decade. If things got out of hand with his comments or behaviors, a quick sharp elbow or dirty look usually snapped Marvin back into reality, although not always, and this workaround has had diminishing returns as of the last 2-3 years, according to Mr. Griffin.

Hubbard's lodge is located approximately 20 miles away from Yellowstone National Park in the U.S. State of Montana. Ms. Covington and Ms. Holt suggested, recommended, and designed the schedule of the trip to Hubbards Lodge and Yellowstone National Park so that Mr. Griffin, Mr. Marvin Levy, Ms. Holt and Ms. Covington could vacation there to escape the doldrums of the corona virus pandemic.

About a week prior, Mr. Griffin was talking to Ms. Holt in her downstairs apartment at his residence and notice she was reading a new book, "100 ways to die at Yellowstone National Park". Mr. Griffin asked why she was always so obsessed with death and negativity. She became defensive and has a strange zeal in her eyes that he hadn't seen before. Alarmed, Mr. Griffin changes the subject and the two discussed the remaining preparations of the trip. Hubbards lodge is a very expensive and exclusive place that is like its own wilderness with vast prairies, black bears and grizzly bears, wolves and all sort of outdoor enthusiast type activities like fly fishing, walks, hikes, etc. Mr Griffin paid for Ms. Holts share of the costs as a courtesy to her due to her low income. The lodge was in the high several hundred dollars per person per night cost range. Additionally, Mr. Griffin gave Marvin money for riding on the Jet.

On the day of departure, Mr. Griffin could clearly tell that something was very off base with the body language of Ms. Covington and Ms. Holt. Neither women would directly face him like usual, they either made limited eyes contact or overly direct eye contacts, had strange energies to them, and were overly confident verbally but their body language was nervous.

As the four of them arrived at Wisconsin Aviation, a fixed base operator (FBO) at (KMSN) attached to Dane County Regional Airport, Mr Griffin was pretty pumped! After clearing security which is no more than saying hello, meeting the pilot, and showing ID, he continued outside to look at the aircraft.

Operated by Netjets, A Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (NYSE: BRK.a & BRK.b) subsidiary, the Cessna Citation Latitude was nearly brand new. If you like the new car smell, the new plane smell will be equally as pleasing. For reference, this aircraft costs over 16 Million USD new and uses two jet rated pilots to operate. After getting a personal safety briefing from the pilot, they started heading toward the runway for takeoff rotation. Mr. Griffin admits this is one of his cooler experiences so far in life. Ms. Holt and Mr. Covington continued to act strange, both sitting behind he and Marvin when the forward portion of the airplane has four seats that all face each other. Mr. Griffin continued to turn around and notice both women utilizing the Netjets WiFi and were texting each other. Mr. Griffin continued to pay close attention to them for the duration of the flight.

If Mr. Griffin was to be killed, this would position Ms. Holt and Ms. Covington in a better spot to ultimately gain control of and inherit Marvin Levy's over one hundred million dollar fortune, held in nearly 400 individual U.S. stocks, listed on major exchanges. Mr. Griffin believes that this was Ms. Holt's and Ms. Covington's only plausible plan as neither women has any practical commercial skills related to the U.S. Stock market, securities selection, or asset management. This is in stark contrast to Mr. Griffin's nearly 30 year fascination and daily obsession with the United States stock market, as well as his multi year study with Mr. Levy regarding portfolio construction, as well as the absorption of his vast securities knowledge. Mr. Griffin believes that neither Ms. Covington, nor Ms. Holt would know a good investment or stock if it fell from a tree and hit them in their heads.

Upon landing in Bozeman, Montana, the national guard provided Covid testing and the four jumped into an SUV waiting on the tarmac and headed to Hubbard's lodge. Upon arrival, Mr. Griffin looked around and enjoyed the beautiful scenery. After sleep, the next day had some exploration activities and Mr. Griffin and Mr. Levy took their usual walk babbling about the markets and current events. Yellowstone national park was explored the follow day and upon return to Hubbards there was a nice dinner put on outside at the lodge, facing the grand hillside terrain. Mr. Griffin was sitting at the head of an approximately 12 person table and Ms. Covington was sitting at the other head. Ms. Holt and Marvin flanked Mr. Griffin towards his end. During the salad course, a gentleman approached Ms. Covington from behind, and by their body language Mr. Griffin could tell that they knew each other, as the gentleman put his hand on her arm and shoulder in a familiar way, after the strange greeting, the man looked up at Mr. Griffin with the "eyes of death" as he calls them. This made no sense as this was a vacation and how would Ms. Covington know the cowboy at the Hubbards ranch prior to meeting him at the dinner. Mr. Griffin smelled trouble immediately and his prior reservations about the trip were confirmed.

If you are reading this, I hope no one has ever tried to kill you during your life, but if they have, you know the look. It's very recognizable and those with combat service or similar experiences can confirm this. Regrettably, Mr. Griffin has experienced this twice before, both times in his early 20's when he was robbed, beat and threatened at gun point, as well as by his ex-boyfriend during a domestic violence incident, in the same time period. His ex-boyfriend was ultimately shot by Phoenix Police.

Back at the Hubbards Ranch dinner table, the Cowboy that approached Elizabeth in the familiar way was to be the horse back riding guide for tomorrows adventures. Mr. Griffin doesn't ride horses and didn't sign up for this ride with Elizabeth. This is due to a serious knee injure from horseback riding Mr. Griffin sustained after being thrown from a horse on a trail in buckeye, Arizona in 2011. Regardless, Ms. Covington and the "cowboy" continued to patronize Mr. Griffin at the dinner table to join them. Mr. Griffin continued to decline their offer and was overly nice to try and throw them off. He will never forget the looks in their eyes.

Similar, Ms. Holt was equally evasive, earlier she had said she wasn't doing any day activities at Hubbards the following day, then suddenly changed her mind and was going fly fishing instead. Ms. Holt continued to try and pressure Mr. Griffin into going horse back riding with the pair the following day. He continued to decline their offers and grew increasingly worried. Mr. Griffin has never seen Ms. Holt fish or want to go fishing in the over decade of knowing her. After sleep, the following morning, Ms. Covington awakened Mr. Griffin in his room and continued to press for him to come horse back riding. Mr. Griffin retorted back to her that he "wished he and her cowboy good luck as it seems you two know each other" Mr. Griffin remembers Ms. Covington's body jumping back about 3 inches in a split second and her pupils fully dilating immediately. She knew Mr. Griffin was on to her at that point. She quickly turned and tried to go procure coffee from the room nearby. Mr. Griffin went inside his room, locked the door, and looked at himself in the bathroom mirror for what felt like an eternity. I guess this is what you do when someone tries to kill you. Some minutes later Mr. Griffin could hear Marvin stirring out on the patio and went out to talk to him. They had to go drop off Ms. Covington and Ms. Holt at their horseback riding and fishing activities down the road but on the Hubbard's large several hundred acre property. Once everyone was ready, Mr. Griffin said that he hoped Ms. Holt and Ms. Covington have fun today and that he would take Marvin on a long exploration walk and they would meet up later.

Ms. Holt not realizing that Mr. Griffin had already sullied Ms. Covington's plot, and immediately began drilling into Mr. Griffin that he should go horse back riding, and continued to during the car ride down the road. Ms. Covington was stone cold silent during the drive. Once arriving at the horse stall, Mr. Griffin looked out the SUV window to see the cowboy near three saddled up horses, loading a long gun with ammunition. With an additional shotgun on the other horse and a revolver on his belt. Mr. Griffin immediately thought "this son of bitch is going ride me out into the middle of nowhere an shoot me!"…Then feed me to the grisly bears.

From the backseat of the SUV, Ms. Covington continued to try and convince Mr. Griffin to "go for a ride" as the cowboy looked on at Mr. Griffin with a demonic zeal in his eyes. Ms. Covington again hugged the cowboy as if she knew him after the 15 step walk from the SUV. The cowboy was actually Ms. Covington's Brother that she had told Mr. Griffin and Mr. Levy "was estranged and lived in California" over the past year and a half of knowing her.

Ms. Holt was radio silent for the drive to the fishing pick up area 10 minutes away by SUV. Mr. Griffin took an approximately 6 hour walk with Marvin after the drop offs, and to this day continues to count his blessings. He credits the non verbal communication skills he learned growing up with his disabled brother Zachary, for saving his life that day. Mr. Griffin tried to ignore the two females for the remainder of the trip and it was quite awkward. They continued to act strange and disappointed and like they had been caught being naughty.

Mr. Griffin was distressed, like who do these two think they are, he thought. Upon arriving back in Madison and jumping in Mr. Levy's Mercedes on the tarmac, the four rode back to Mr. Griffin's house. He received a very "goodbye for ever" type hug from Elizabeth and has never seen of heard from her since. Mr. Griffin didn't want her touching him but was polite and she was very fake. She has never spoken to Marvin since either.

Weird behavior Mr. Griffin believed if nothing was happening that shouldn't have been and you just rode on a private jet. Life had to continue and Mr. Griffin was just grateful to get the hell away from that evil and demonic women. In the weeks after, work and the realities of the pandemic came back to front and center. Mr. Griffin believed it was all Elizabeth's stunt that was pulled as he has know Shannon for almost a decade. But hints continued to drop that is was much more sinister than that. Sometime people tell you the truth subconsciously and Mr. Griffin was well aware of this concept. As Fall arrived, Mr. Griffin couldn't stop thinking about the circumstances that summer day. He looked at things more closely and keep playing the events forwards and backwards of the weeks leading up to and after the trip. Phil Levy's cancer diagnosis came on fast in the fall and he was terminal stage 4 at diagnosis. This, coupled with work and the seemingly never ending covid lockdowns in Madison, proved to be a formidable opponent. After Phil went into the hospital, he never came back out and the health regulations made it to where in person visiting was not possible.

Mr. Griffin remembers talking to Phil levy at hospice and telling him about the crazy homicide plot Elizabeth had concocted, he retorted, "I know, of course she did, she's another lesbian trying to date Marvin for his money"…this has happened before.

In the late fall, Mr. Griffin had enough of Ms. Holt's insanity and began to notice a big increase in her accrued disrespect towards him. She had left her computer open and unlocked while in the shower, so he took a peak at her messages and noticed quite the history with Elizabeth, despite Ms. holt acting like she never spoke to her before or after the trip. As well as a lot of communications around the Hubbards vacation time period.

Completely freaked out and not wanting to get caught observing the laptop, Mr. Griffin played it cool and figured that he better get this monster out of his house as soon as possible. He gave it some thought and knew it was going to get ugly and that she wouldn't want to leave peacefully. Mr. Griffin pushed through the holidays, trying to spend as little time at home as possible and tending to Marvin and Jeff, as Phil's as cancer rollercoaster was in full swing by then.

Marvin's Asperger spectrum disorder requires routines to keep things level and as stable as possible and Mr. Griffin knew that kicking Shannon out would make him go crazy no matter how logical it was. Marvin was already blaming Mr. Griffin for Elizabeth breaking up with him on a daily basis at this point and no logic or reason was getting through to him. He just keep talking about "her luscious fat rolls" and began stalking her around the university. He would flip between insulting her and missing her. Mr. Griffin admits it was hurtful to accompany him through.

Mr. Griffin hasn't been after the Levy families wealth like Ms. Covington and Ms. Holt, other than perhaps proving himself worthy through hard work and actual friendship. Mr. Griffin promised their late brother, Phil Levy, on his death bed, February 8th 2021, during a 3 hour lucid conversation with Phil before he slipped into a final coma, that he would look after Marvin and Jeff, and he has. Mr. Griffin has long since soaked up Marvin's securities and stock market knowledge through the prior years of their friendship, and is well on his way to making his own millions, dramatically enriching himself over the recent few years with clever investments in oil and gas pipeline companies prior to the Russian Ukraine war beginning. Additionally, Mr. Griffin's sophisticated trading strategies added juice to his overall returns, handily outperformed the broader U.S. stock market index's returns since the Pandemic began, and doing so by more than 2400 basis points in 2022. This outperformance angered Marvin, as his returns in percentage terms, not dollars, were significantly less. Mr. Griffin told Marvin, "there's more than one way to skin a cat"…Marvin exploded in anger.

Mr. Griffin believes that Ms. Holt's and Ms. Covington's lifestyles are unsupportive of actual or enduring success, as rather than building up and supporting people and things like Mr. Griffin does, collecting the dividends and satisfaction derived, they only look to destroy and break the aforementioned. Mr. Griffin can confirm from personal experience that this "way of doing business" is merely a product of their self loathing personas and is incongruent with nature and universal law. "You can't build yourself up by sawing other people down", Mr. Griffin constantly reminded Ms. Holt.

Mr. Griffin laughs, but confirms that if Marvin wants to pass his stocks on to him, he will take them since he loves stocks and will be grateful, growing the fortune larger and using the money for good and to indemnify the long term care and vitality of his disabled brother, Zachary Griffin.

For years, Mr. Griffin has observed Marvin using his charity work as a mere vertical to beat up, accost, stalk, and sexually harass the female executive directors of dozens of local charity organizations. He knew he would never do it that way if he had the chance

Mr. Griffin always reminded him that you catch more bees with honey than vinegar, Marvin disagreed. Out of respect for Marvin's disabilities and the fact that it is his life and his money, Mr. Griffin has stayed out of it, but frequently told Marvin he really should try and be more like Mr. Rodger. But Mr. Griffin can confirm that Marvin has little care or concern about the charities, to him, it's just a game and a tax deduction. Regrettably, Marvin thinks of and treats the female executive directors of these numerous charities as if they are strippers or whores that he is paying for services. Mr. Griffin tells Marvin frequently that this is unkind, he disagrees.

Ultimately, Mr. Griffin is grateful for Marvin's mentorship and business and stock market knowledge, which he has absorbed while also growing intolerant of his increasingly demonic behavior since the pandemic, his lack of appreciation, and faux level of support for Mr. Griffin's life goals and plans. Mr. Griffin seeks peace and stability, not drama and negativity.

The setup plot & the insurance fraud team

Meeting Foley & Lardner for the first time

Mr. Griffin was referred to Foley & Lardner Attorney Antonia Prestigiacamo by Marvin Levy after he asked Marvin for advise and was having an issue with a separating client of his business that was giving him a hard time and trying to cheat him. Mr. Griffin had previously used Axley Attorneys in Madison since 2014 and was very happy with them and planned to contact them in the summer of 2022.

When asked for help, Marvin's eyes immediately lite up and he grabbed his phone and looked up Ms. Prestigiacamo phone number and email and gave it to Mr. Griffin. Marvin said Mr. Griffin didn't need a low brow law firm like Axley, but rather he needed a "big dog" like Foley & Lardner. Based upon their nearly 10 year friendship and the fact that Mr. Griffin had seen and checked on Marvin nearly daily for the past 5 years, he trusted his judgement.

Mr. Griffin reached out to Ms. Prestigiacamo within a few days and after being interviewed by her to see if Mr. Griffin could pay, he was quickly shuffled to Matt Lee and Jennifer Luther, who were on her team in the Madison office. Mr. Griffin had a bad feeling about the whole thing and remembered back vividly to a conversation with Phillip Levy (deceased) in the fall of 2020, just weeks before he was diagnosed with terminal cancer. During this conversation, Phil, told Mr. Griffin that he should stay away from Foley & Lardner, and that he had a terrible experience with them that involved foley overcharging him, while simultaneously passing a revenue share of the legal fees onto Marvin Levy.

Licensed attorney's are allowed to revenue share legal fees without notifying their clients. Phil further said, "Marvin isn't an attorney, he just thinks he is"…Both Mr. Griffin and Phil smiled and burst into a good laugh. Phil said that "Marvin went to law school but got censured for cheating". Phil further elaborated that when he was trying to write his Will, Marvin was communicating with attorney Prestigiacamo in the background and trying to manipulate the process, and elongate it, so that the costs of the legal services would move upward in a parabolic fashion, all the while Prestigiacamo was sharing part of the legal revenues with Marvin.

Mr. Griffin commented to Phil that this was a strange way to treat your own family, Phil agreed with Mr. Griffin with a vigorous nod. Phil further explained to Mr. Griffin afterwards that Attorney Prestigiacamo was one of Marvin's former "girlfriends". Mr. Griffin ask Phil to explain as he believed he was eluding to something. Phil began to tell Mr. Griffin that Marvin has lots of girlfriends and that there was a support group for these women within the Madison community. Puzzled, Mr. Griffin said "and.." Phil continued on to explain that Marvin's stalking and sexual harassment of these women was so piercing and overbearing that there was a support group, similar to AA. Mr. Griffin was floored as he had no idea of this, but it made sense because he truly is a handful. Phil agreed, and Mr. Griffin followed on with the fact that "his Asperger's get's a little fired up, sometimes"…Phil said in a firm and higher pitch "I'd say!". The two men changed subjects and discussed other items for a while and concluded the conversation shortly there after, as it was getting late in the evening. Mr. Griffin left Phil's home on Lakewood Blvd in Maple Bluff and returned to his residence.

Mr. Griffin spoke to Matt Lee on the phone and subsequently reviewed his engagement letter and provided a retainer payment to the law firm in person. Shortly after hiring him, and later that afternoon, Mr. Griffin recognized Matt's voice as he overhead him speaking to another member at the Maple Bluff Country Club, near the snack bar window on the southwest corner of the club. He introduced himself a few minutes later and the two men exchanged pleasantries. Mr. Griffin continued to jet around the club saying hello to other members that he knew. Thereafter, Mr. Griffin was inside the Men's locker room at the Club and ran into Mr. Lee again. Mr. Griffin thought to himself that he was glad that he hired Mr. Lee because he was very good looking and seemed kind and sharp. He felt he was in good hands. In the locker room, Mr. Griffin jokingly said to Mr. Lee that "he was good looking and it was too bad he was straight", referring to Mr. Lee's perceived heterosexually as Mr. Griffin recalled from their initial conversation that Mr. Lee mentioned that he was married with three children.

A week prior Marvin had said to Mr. Griffin that "your new attorney just moved into Allison Prange's old house on Lakewood Blvd.". Mr. Griffin commented that "I hope he has a lot of money, as that house has a leaking basement similar to the R.S.S.M Titanic!" Mr. Griffin believed that Mrs. Prange and her husband Phil had used the ultra hot real estate market at the time to sell their Lakewood Drive home without an inspection, simultaneously getting their high school age daughter away from Marvin's stalking and obsessions and ditching the house with foundation leaks. Two birds, one stone.

In the Locker room, Mr. Lee didn't seem to take offense to Mr. Griffin's compliments based upon his body language and eye contact. A few seconds later, Mr. Griffin said follow me and motioned with his hand and leading Mr. Lee to the bathroom area of the Men's Locker room. Mr. Griffin walked first into the shower room area at the back of the bathroom and waved Mr. Lee into the shower stall on the left side of the locker room as their was no other members utilizing the showers or bathroom. Once the two men were inside, Mr. Griffin pulled the curtain closed and began rubbing Mr. Lee's penis through his pants. A short time later, Matt's penis began to get hard and Mr. Griffin continued to rub it through his pants. Mr. Griffin tried kissing Mr. Lee but could tell it made him uncomfortable, so Mr. Griffin stopped trying to kiss him. A short time later, Mr. Griffin bent down on his knees and began to unbutton and unzip Mr. Lee's pants. He continued to play with his now hard penis through his underwear. Mr. Griffin recalls that Mr. Lee's legs were shaking and he seemed nervous. Shortly their after, Mr. Griffin slide the head of Mr. Lee's penis through the fly opening on his underwear and began to lick and play with the head of his penis. By this point, Mr. Lee was fully erect and his legs had stopped shaking. Mr. Griffin began to more vigorously perform oral sex on Mr. Lee, deep throating him, as well as playing with his testicles through his underwear and rubbing his legs. Mr. Griffin could tell that Mr. Lee was enjoying what was happening based upon his increased breath and subtle moans. Approximately a minute later, Mr. Griffin heard other voices in the locker room and their volume increased as they walked towards the bathroom area. Mr. Griffin looked up at Mr. Lee and motioned "it's ok", with Mr. Lee's penis still in his mouth. Mr. Lee's body jumped slightly and hit the side wall of the shower stall making a light noise. Mr. Griffin removed Matt's penis from his mouth and made a nonverbal "shhhh" sign with his right index figure and his mouth. Matt quickly began to recombobulate himself and slid his penis back into his underwear and rearranged his shorts. Mr. Griffin, still on his knees, looked up at Matt and motioned not to move while the other members were urinating and using the locker room sinks. After a minute, Mr. Lee unlocked the shower stall door and exited the area, walking out not perfectly upright trying to shield his still hard penis. Mr. Griffin exited the area a few minutes later, once Mr. Lee had made it out of the bathroom and the locker room area was clear. Some days passed before Mr. Griffin spoke to Mr. Lee again regarding his legal work.

For reference, as an openly gay, single, 37 year old male, Mr. Griffin has had consenting sexual relations with presumably hundreds of adult, gay, bisexual, and 'straight' men, by this point in his life. He didn't think anything more about this brief sexual contact with Mr. Lee, other than is being fun, but ultimately unsatisfactory. Further, despite the Insurance fraudsters suggestions and proclamations, the last time Mr. Griffin has had sexual contact with a minor was when he was also, a minor, back in the early 2000's.

Mr. Lee has a different take on things, and Mr. Griffin could tell that he was deeply worried by what took place. Mr. Griffin could tell this by Mr. Lee's voice tone and abruptly interrupted Matt and said "don't worry, your secret is safe with me" in a light hearted tone. Mr. Griffin could still sense fear and bubbling anger in Mr. Lee's voice, but tried to redirect the subject back to the legal work at hand. The two had made plans to speak again thereafter, to discuss getting the matter that Mr. Griffin approached Mr. Lee about, resolved.

After a time, Matt called Mr. Griffin back, and had a more arrogant and obnoxious tone to his voice during the call. Mr. Griffin had noticed that Matt continued to make backhanded and patronizing comments during the call regarding his 'legal troubles'. Mr. Griffin laughed and said, "right, right". In the back of Mr. Griffin's mind, he knew that Matt had utilized his lexis nexus tool to "do some creeping" on Mr. Griffin and was referring to Mr. Griffin's struggle with addiction and prescription pain killers, in is early 20's, nearly a decade and a half prior. Amazed that a brand new service provider charging $610/per hour would suggest such a thing, Mr. Griffin played along with Mr. Lee's antics and continued to try and redirect him back to the needed legal help. Mr. Lee carried on trying to be "fake nice" for a while and Mr. Griffin continued to entertain his disrespect for some additional minutes. The two ended the call with Matt advising that his assistant, Attorney Jennifer Luther, would be in touch to begin a response to the separating client that Mr. Griffin was having issues with and receiving threatening letters from.

Attorney Jennifer Luther contacted Mr. Griffin and the two compiled their thoughts and Jennifer wrote a nice letter back to the opposing counsel. The multiple page letter addressed the separating clients' shortcomings, their attempts to use Mr. Griffin and his business to commit tax fraud and loan fraud against the United State Treasury and local banks, as well as the separating clients' submittal to Mr. Griffin of bogus and fictitious financial reports and figures. The separating client was further attempting to utilize this bogus data to compel Mr. Griffin to fabricate financial reports, that they had planned to submit to their lenders to obtain real estate loans from FDIC insured community banks in the Madison area. Mr. Griffin wasn't interested in this nonsense.

Further, Mr. Griffin found the prior client's banking approach very strange and had asked the client previously to permit him to discuss their matters with these banks in hopes of establishing a more proper and trusting banking relationship, which would not require submitting bogus financial reports to procure loans. "It's a people business", Mr. Griffin recalls telling these prior clients. The separating clients became angry and refused. Mr. Griffin knew that he had to commence separation from this group quickly, as they were maniacal. Not trying to make waves, as Madison is a small town, Mr. Griffin figured he'd think on it for a few days and proceed accordingly at that point.

Around the same time, Mr. Griffin was working on a loan deal for a different client with a banker he knew at a local Madison area bank. The banker and Mr. Griffin had decided to schedule a "pool day" to discuss the client, the client's potential business plan, and subsequent financing request. The banker and her boyfriend arrived at Mr. Griffin's residence mid-morning and the three of them rode in Mr. Griffin's G Class Mercedes Benz, in-route to the pool at the Maple Bluff Country Club. At the MBCC pool, the banker and her boyfriend had a few drinks, Mr. Griffin refrained as he does not drink alcohol.

After these beverages, the banker began to get what Mr. Griffin calls "motor mouth" and started discussing other clients of hers that she worked with that were not related to Mr. Griffin. Being polite, Mr. Griffin listened and continued to enjoy the sunshine of the beautiful day. After some minutes, the banker mentioned by name the separating client Mr. Griffin he was having problems with, the one that he had contacted Mr. Lee about. Curious, Mr. Griffin asked the banker "what do you think of those boys?".

The banker retorted, "I think they are fucking lying assholes…I think they are un-loyal, rude, lying fucking assholes!".

Mr. Griffin, swallowing a gulp of cold iced water when the banker made the proclamation, ejected part of the gulp through his nose and began coughing profusely. After the coughing fit, Mr. Griffin said "man they sound like a rough group!" While simultaneously confirming is his head the banker's conclusions. The banker continued to carry on about the client for several more minutes, while Mr. Griffin listened. After this, the conversation changed to different topics and ended with the banker and her boyfriend discussing their sex life with Mr. Griffin. As a gay male, Mr. Griffin was only interested in the parts about her boyfriend, who he thought was semi attractive. The conversation concluded with the banker mentioning how much her boyfriend enjoyed having "his hole figured" (anus) while she performed oral sex on him. Mr. Griffin confirmed to the female banker, that usually men enjoy this specific activity.

After Attorney Jennifer Luther responded to the separating client's attorney with an extensive letter, Mr. Griffin believed the matter was over as he had paid Foley & Lardner nearly $8,000 for this letter and their time.

Some number of weeks passed and Marvin and Mr. Griffin had declared victory of the problems with the separating clients, as this issue had been bothering Mr. Griffin greatly as he had yet to experience these kind of problems in his nearly 10 years in business. Mr. Griffin could tell that Marvin was beginning to act strange when discussing Foley and Lardner and the previous client, which he continued to bring up daily to Mr. Griffin.

Mr. Levy's Asperger spectrum disorder makes him fixate and obsess over the past as he has no ability to consider the future or future plans. His spectrum is merely a continuous loop of the past and reenactments and recitals of it. This can be quite warm and entertain a lot of the time but is tough other times since we don't have personal time machines. This comes in conflict with the neurotypical world frequently, as one might imagine and expect. Since Mr. Griffin has been working with Mr. Levy for numerous years and has spent thousand of hours of total time with him, he usually could redirect Marvin or "get him to snap out of it". Not this time.

Additionally, it is quite common for individuals with Asperger spectrum disorder to attack, disparage, and mistreat their care givers, its due to deficiencies in emotional intelligence and selfishness primarily. Mr. Griffin has personal experience with this through experience with his brother, Zachary, who's caretaker aids in the school system during K-12 education would only make it 1-3 years with him before he would attack, scratch, or severely bite them, drawing blood, and loosing teeth on one occasion. These blow ups would force the departure of these caregivers and a new one would be appointed. Knowing Marvin for so many years, he had a feeling he was on thin ice in this regard.

This relationship with Foley and Lardner was different, as it involved Attorney Prestigiacamo, one of Marvin's former loves and girlfriends. As such, rather than let sleeping dogs lie with the legal work, Mr. Levy continued to contact Ms. Prestigiacamo, trying to stir the case back up and position himself to gain more revenue share from her, as he had done prior with his Gay brother Phillip Levy's (deceased) legal work. What would seem like something that is totally wrong and uncalled for and rude, such as this, in Marvin's mind was right because get got to obsess and talk to Antonia Prestigiacamo again and more often.

Meanwhile in the back ground, Matt lee was working on his own plan to circumvent and destroy Mr. Griffin for fear of him outing Matt for the gay sexual conduct at the Maple bluff Country club a few months prior. Mr. Griffin believes this was do to his extreme fear of being outed and identified as cheating on his wife. As such, Attorney Lee began to use his prior creeping of Mr. Griffin's struggle with drugs nearly a decade and a half prior and began to use this information, violating Mr. Griffin's attorney client privilege in the process and campaigning to try and turn Marvin and Jeff Levy against Mr. Griffin, despite their close relationship for many years.

Mr. Griffin can only conclude that in Matt's world, everything that he did a decade and a half ago is and was perfect and everything that Mr. Griffin is doing and has done is imperfect and flawed. Mr. Griffin hopes that someone puts him out of his misery if he ever becomes remotely at righteous as Foley & Lardner Attorney Matt Lee.

Matt Lee, armed with this information began to contact Marvin and Jeff and with the help of Marvin's ex girlfriend Attorney Antonia Prestigiacomo, they met with the Levy brothers in or around June 2022 to discuss the setup and paint Mr. Griffin as a bad person. It wasn't a good setup in hindsight and Mr. Griffin later learned that she was close friends and an attorney to one of Marvin and Jeffs largest competitor of Phillips Distribution Corporation. If only he has know all of this or Marvin had been up front about this earlier.

Attorney Matt Lee and Antonia Prestigiacomo knew from prior knowledge of Marvin's Asperger spectrum disorder that he is unable to see or discuss future plans, is only able to consider, review, and relitigate past events and chronologies, and that he had an obsession and fixation with her spanning more than 20 years.

The pair used this information to prey on Marvin's disability and recruit him to turn on Mr. Griffin without cause or actual reason to do so. Again violating Mr. Griffin's attorney client privilege, they inaccurately painted Mr. Griffin as a monster that he was not, and fashioned him as some sort of weasel trying to get the Levy's large fortune. Anyone who has seen or known the love and time that Mr. Griffin has put into taking care of and looking after Marvin would know this as utterly incorrect.

Since Attorney Antonia Prestigiacomo's deceased husband was an alcoholic who died from alcoholism, she knows perfectly well how to manipulate alcoholics and those struggling with addiction. Jeff Levy was an easy sell on this concept that Mr. Griffin was the new enemy, as based upon Mr. Griffin's nearly ten years of knowing Jeff, he is a daily drinking closet alcoholic. Alcoholism to the degree that Jeff is currently experiencing fries the human brain and creates a condition know as "wet brain" or alcohol induces psychosis.

This functions in reality as dementia, and is rife with delusions, negativity, and unexplained fears of situations or circumstances that did not or are not actually occurring.

Mr. Griffin knows Jeff's cheese is fallen off his cracker recently as he had told him in September 2023 that he was mad at his immediate north neighbor on the corner because she asked him and his landscapers to stop staring at her and stay off her property.

In retaliation, Jeff and attorney Bob Gingras with Gingras, Thomsen, & Wachs Lawyers at 8150 Excelsior Dr, who is Jeff's immediate neighbor behind, had planned a scheme which involved them filling a lawsuit against the poor women, for failing to remove an approximately 10 foot overlapping section of old telephone line that was hanging the telephone pole on the corner of his back yard corner. The dubious pair planned to then bury her in legal bill, get a judgement, and then try and foreclose on her house.

Then, Jeff advised Mr Griffin that the plan was to buy the house in foreclosure, tear it down, and then put together a sham conservation easement using an inflated basis value with all the legal costs inflated and added on as a step up to the basis. Needless to say, Mr. Griffin was completely shocked when Jeff told him this and advised him, he's nuts and needs to back down.

In hindsight, its possible to draw some parallels from what Jeff and attorney Bob Gingras were planning to do to Mr. Griffin and his insurer, Berkshire Hathaway. At least Jeff's neighbor wouldn't have had to go to prison for 20 years, so maybe call it a win? Mr. Griffin, speaking sincerely and with love, needs Jeff to enter in patient rehab and dry out. He's gone too far with things.

Over the years, Mr. Griffin has received dozens of "butt dials" from Jeff's cell phone when he was in intoxicated rages alone. Mr. Griffin has always felt terrible for Jeff and his alcoholism as he is in recovery himself. Mr. Griffin has tried to direct Jeff to treatment but he refuses, as is often the case with alcoholism. Further, Mr. Griffin has attempted on numerous occasions to install the Uber transportation application on Jeff's Smartphone and teach him to use it. Jeff has always refused this with the explanation of he doesn't want to get in cars with strangers. Mr. Griffin has continued to recommend the transportation application to Jeff with no success. Since Jeff drinks to full intoxication daily, he is a danger to himself and others on our roadways. Mr. Griffin continues to and hopes for a breakthrough in this alcohol addiction that is hurting Jeff. Mr. Griffin is still in awe over Ms. Prestigiacomo's manipulation of Jeff to do something like this with absolutely zero care or concern for Mr. Griffin, but as a financial professional in practice for nearly 10 years, he know people will do anything for money.

In a fascinating displace of arrogance, the Foley Attorneys continued on to describe and define an insurance scam they wished to portray with the help of Maple Bluff, WI police chief Tanner Nystrom. Attorney Matt Lee's Lexis Nexus investigations of Mr. Griffin illuminated the existence of Mr. Griffin's $5,000,000 personal umbrella insurance policy issued through a subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (BRK.a & BRK.b). This was not enough, they needed personal access to Mr. Griffin via the Levy Brothers to fully perform the scam.

Around this time, Mr. Griffin received another threatening letter from the separating client's attorney which was truly outrageous in content. After breaking his back for the client for over a year now they wanted all their money back and then some because Mr. Griffin refused to go along with their financial scheming. Mr. Griffin called Mr. Lee and told him to commence a lawsuit for the unpaid work he performed for their nearly dozen separate companies. A few weeks later Foley filed the lawsuit.

Mr. Griffin remembers vividly the day that Matt called him to confirm the filling of the lawsuit. He asked to go ahead with it, Mr.Griffin said yes, and in a deep, and unnaturally demonic voice he said "THEY are not expecting this". It still gives Mr. Griffin chills to think about, but in hindsight it is quite apparent that he wasn't referring to the defendant in the lawsuit, but rather to Mr. Griffin, as they had recently kicked off the insurance fraud scheme, and inaccurately and disrespectfully referencing Mr. Griffin as "THEY", a pronoun used by representative members of the LGBT community. Laughably inaccurate as Mr. Griffin is a Cis born male and if he did utilize a pronoun or label to represent himself it would be He/Him/His. Mr. Griffin believes Matthew's ignorance, bigotry, and intolerance to be truly palatable and dangerous. Further, Mr.Griffin wonders who placed him as the arbiter of what people can identify as or who they can love? A truly shameful and pathetic "man" he is, further, size isn't his strong-suit.

Around this time, Marvin and Jeff came back together one morning from a trip to Foley's office near the Edgewater hotel as Marvin would later confess to Mr. Griffin as they were having coffee at around 9am the following morning. Jeff and Marvin had strange looks on their faces but Mr. Griffin just figured something was bothering them. Jeff dropped Marvin, who dropped the usual 4 newspapers to Mr. Griffin and said he had to go and left with Jeff. The following morning Marvin came over and was acting strange again. He said that he needed to work through some healthcare powers of attorney and that he needed a copy of Mr. Griffin's driver's license. Not thinking anything of it, Mr. Griffin gave him a photocopy. Mr. Griffin is confident the prior days meeting is when the insurance fraud scheme was hatched and it's plot begun. Marvin Levy never provided any power of attorney for healthcare documents that he said he needed help with to Mr. Griffin.

Mr. Griffin believes this was merely a shame, or ruse to capture Mr. Griffin's Identification to aid in the insurance fraud scheme. Mr.Griffin never even considered this as he had treated Marvin, Jeff, and Phil like family for several years.

In the summer of 2023, Marvin would ask for Mr. Griffin's bank account PIN number during a checkout at Costco in Middleton, WI as the two were getting San Pellegrino water. Marvin requested Mr. Griffin's debit card to complete the transaction, as the glass bottled water was for Mr.Griffin. Mr Levy asked for Mr. Griffin's PIN number and said "they changed the rules and I have to do the checkout since I'm the Costco member". Since he trusted Marvin and he's worth over 100 million USD, Mr. Griffin paid it no mind and gave him the PIN number to complete the checkout. This PIN was a PIN also used to access network and computer equipment, complete various two factor authentications for commercial and cloud software and also a secondary form of logon to Mr. Griffins desktop computers. This PIN number was ultimately misused to access Mr. Griffin's computer systems by the insurance fraud parties.

This Driver's license Mr. Griffin provided would later be used by Foley & Lardner Attorney Matt Lee to open up bank accounts in Mr. Griffin's name, out of state. After Mr. Lee had the computer access passwords from Mr. Griffin's domestic partner Derick Moore, which were provided to him from the the straw marriage and payments he arranged to Mr. Griffin's cleaning lady's relative. Mr. Lee accessed Mr. Griffin's email and cloud system and substituted these forged account numbers from accounts that he opened up, in place of legitimate account numbers on an electronic document that was to be used by Mr. Griffin's client to wire funds for an investment they wished to make. Attempting to make it seem like Mr. Griffin was embezzling his own clients investment money. Luckily, the client did not follow through with this investment they wanted but who would ever think that a $610/hr lawyer that is supposed to be on you side would do something like this. Truly a monster, this man.

Mr Nystrom also had an axe to grind with Mr. Griffin, despite never actually meeting him in person prior to just before this claim date (six weeks ago). This ill will for Mr. Griffin was directly based upon Mr. Nystrom's installer's request. (Tim O'Brien) to get even with Mr. Griffin for embarrassing Mr. O'Brien with the financial fraud had Mr. Griffin pointed out related to the the Gordon Apartment and the embezzlement at the Maple Bluff country club which embarrassed him at his prior employer, SVA.

This insurance fraud scheme was augmented by Ms. Holt, who after the failed homicide plot on Mr. Griffin's life with Ms. Covington and subsequent eviction from Mr. Griffin's residence in February 2021, began to make false reports to regulators, taxing authorities, and the United States government in 2021 and beyond regarding Mr. Griffin's business and dealing, none of which were true. Presumably as payback for being ejected from the house and wanting to finish the job that she started.

Ms. Holt, openly admitted this to Mr. Griffin at a meeting at her Janesville Apartment at 2622 Vail Ct. #7 on or about October 10th 2023, during a recorded conversation as she proclaimed with arrogant face expressions and body language that "I threw you under the bus for financial reasons". Gee thanks, I'm glad I forgave you. Mr.Griffin forgive everyone, even these parties in this document. It's a healthy way to live. Mr. Griffin wanted to ask her why but the look on her face said it all. He left her Janesville apartment a short time later.

Mr. Griffin believes that to support her gambling addiction problem, Ms. holt was initially seeking a reward from the authorities for her false and or fabricated reports about Mr.

Griffin's business. Also, Mr. Griffin believes it was to seek retribution for being evicted from Mr. Griffin's nearly one million dollar Maple Bluff home and relegated to a small basic apartment that costs 40% more to rent than she had contributed to the household bills at Mr. Griffin's residence.

Since she was unsuccessful with her homicide plot with Ms. Covington, this new and more creative approach to impugn, procure the false arrest, and subsequently long term incarceration of Mr. Griffin, would accomplish her goal of defacto elimination of him and position her once again to gain access to and ultimately inherit Jeff and Marvin Levy's combined $250 million dollar fortune. All without functional skill or knowledge of what to do or how to properly manage such a sum. Mr. Griffin believes that if she was to gain control or inherit this large quantity of funds, that she would squander and gamble it completely away in a short to medium time frame. Ultimately she hates Mr.Griffin because he happy and she isn't. This is true for most parties in this document, rather than joint him, they request that he join them in their despair, or try and destroy him as his happiness is offending them. Mr. Griffin has seen this movie before.

"Mr. Griffin always warmly referred to Ms. Holt as Wisconsin Lottery's Best Customer"

The motive of the scheme was ultimately, insurance fraud to the tune of $5,000,000. This sophisticated plot was designed to defraud a subsidiary insurance company, wholly owned by Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (NYSE: BRK.a & BRK.b), and tap into Mr. Griffin's massive personal liability umbrella policy.

This was to occur after he was to be falsely arrested for drugs, guns, document crimes, possession of and accessing child pornography, all of which the fraudsters planted, and sexually assaulting and enticing minors, all of which was fictitious and completely made up. These fictitious minor victims (highlighted in the introduction of parties section) would ultimately sue him and the Berkshire Hathaway Inc. insurance subsidiary for a large payout post conviction. Matt lee and the other attorneys would gain a revenue share from Lawton and Cates who they prearranged to recommend to the fictitious victim's families for revenue share. This revenue share would have amounted to a six figure payout for Matt and the other Foley Attorneys.

Then Mr. Griffin would be charged, convicted, and ultimately incarcerated for a period of 15-20 years in a federal corrections facility. This scam and malicious prosecution would have further provided that Mr. Griffin register as a sex offender for life, imploding his dreams of starting his own family and jeopardizing the future care of his fully disabled and non verbal brother, Zachary, who he would ultimately need to be a guardian to after his Mother, Rhonda Griffin, passed on. Mr. Griffin isn't sure what would possess these high fashioned and expensive Foley and Lardner attorneys to act this way, but as a client of their's from June 2022- May 2023, it is quite hurtful, and the unnecessary involvement and destabilization of Zachary Griffin's lifestyle for months and what appears over a year at the hands of this perverse greed and obvious bigotry, is hard for the logical human mind to understand. Love wins, it always does. Mr. Griffin continues to believe, people will do anything for money.

Mr. Marvin Levy, Mr. Jeff Levy, and Foley and Lardner Attorneys Antonia Prestigiacamo, Attorney Jennifer Luther, Attorney Matt D. Lee, and Maple Bluff Police Chief and Administrator Tanner Nystrom designed the Scheme for maximum cruelty. Rather than be happy for Mr.Griffin and acknowledge the significant strides he has made in his life, they do the opposite.

Gaining Access

To fully orchestrate the insurance fraud scheme, they would need access to Mr. Griffin's home, business office, computers, and automobiles. Mr. Griffin has been looking after Marvin Levy nearly daily for the at minimum the last 5 years. Every morning when he is in Madison, Marvin has brought over 4 daily newspapers that he has already read and has coffee with Mr. Griffin at approximately 8:30am. These meetings have occurred 7 days a week. Additionally, Mr. Griffin has dinner with Marvin approximately 5 days per week. On Tuesdays, Wednesday, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. These dinners are at Lombordino's on Saturdays, the Madison Club on Fridays, Dotty's dumpling dowry on Wednesdays, either lombordino's or another Italian place on Thursdays, and Tuesday are a wild card but usually portobellos near the university campus.

These firm rituals have helped Marvin thrive with Mr. Griffin and also helped Mr. Griffin with needed structure in his own life as he doesn't get to see his brother Zachary much anymore due to his Mother's 15 year crusade against his homosexually. Mr. Griffin, to protect his mental health has had to mostly move on from that relationship. The three Foley Attorneys, Ms. holt, and Tanner Nystrom have unnecessary manipulated Marvin, and by extension Jeff, with their unethical and grotesque conduct and have stolen a sense of purpose from Mr. Griffin that was productive and healthy to him.

Gaining influence

After selling Marvin and Jeff on participating in the insurance fraud scheme, and roping in Ms. Holt as additional calvary, the Foley attorneys turned their attention to gaining access to Mr. Griffin's computers, networks, and hard drives. Since Mr. Griffin, a technology geek and self proclaimed technologist runs a tight electronic ship, they would have to get creative.

Only one person in the world has passwords and electronic data keys to Mr. Griffin's computers and that is his same sex domestic partner of 10 years, Derick Moore. Mr. Moore and Mr. Griffin dated actively for a few year and have remained in the union, primarily because Derick is one of the good guys, with a sweet heart and kind soul.

In an effort to circumvent Mr. Griffin and Mr. Moore's same sex domestic partnership, The foley attorneys approached Derick, who has had some financial difficulties, and made cash payments to him and purchased him a new black e-bike in exchange for him marrying a relative of Mr. Griffin's cleaning company that provided bi weekly cleaning of Mr. Griffin's residence from 2020 - September 2023. This shame marriage was sold to Derick that he was helping a war torn women escape a dangerous situation in Eastern Europe due to the Russian Ukraine war.

In addition to the cash payments, they cleared Derick Moore's collections and garnishment debts with creditors American Express and other plaintiffs in collection and garnishment actions brought in Dane County, WI circuit court cases listed on Wisconsin CCAP shortly after the time period that the insurance fraud plot was hatched.

In reality, this marriage was being used as a trade with the cleaning contractor, Touch of Europe Cleaning LLC, to permit assess to Mr. Griffin's home and additionally participated in the planting evidence inside Mr. Griffin's such as hairs and fibers all over his home and furniture as well as inside his Honeywell central vacuum systems dust canister, to link Mr. Griffin to the minor sexual assaults and a child enticements of the minors listed in the introduction of parties section. None to these alleged contacts ever occurred as Mr. Griffin has no interest in children or young adults in this way. In fact, the truth is quite the opposite, Mr. Griffin has been a strong supporter and mentor of young people his entire life, giving his time and energy to them to build a better tomorrow for our world.

As far as Mr. Griffin's sexual attractions and interests go, he can confirm that he has a strong affinity for good looking, in shape, masculine men in their 20's and 30's as he is also good looking, in shape, and masculine. Mr. Griffin is 37 years old and has had consenting and enjoyable sex with men fitting this description 100's of times since coming out in 2009.

In exchange for this straw marriage to Mr. Moore to obtain United States Citizenship for Ms. Palek's relative, Touch of Europe Cleaning LLC, permitted unauthorized access to Mr. Griffin's home to Foley and Lardner Attorney Mr. Matt D. Lee, and Maple Bluff Police chief Mr. Tanner Nystrom during their Bi-weekly cleaning services of Mr. Griffin's home. Touch of Europe cleaning further participated in the planting of physical, fiber, electronic, and biological evidence inside Mr. Griffin's home, on his furniture, in his master bedroom and bathroom, and within his Honeywell Central Vacuum system and dust capture container. These plantings of evidence where in support of fabricating minor sexual assault crimes which did not occur between Mr. Griffin and the minors listed in this introduction of parties section of the document.

Gaining compensation

This cruel scheme was designed with money in mind and the parties stood to benefit financially in a dramatic way to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal referral fees from the Lawton and Cates personal injury attorney, and Bob Gingrich they planned to recommend to the families of the three fictitious victims minor victims. Undoubtably an additional revenue share would have been paid by the fictitious victims families to Matt Lee, Jennifer Luther, and Antonia Prestigiacomo, since these families were also complicit in the scheme. After suing Berkshire Hathaway for a policy limit payout, everyone involved in the scheme would be well off, except Mr. Griffin, of course.

Financial fraud and insurance fraud affect all of us in the forms of higher premiums, and higher taxes, as highlighted in this claim.

Building Influence

Mr. Griffin finds Foley and Lardner's business practices to be cruel and very peculiar, quite unsound, and against the law. Further, telling Derick he was helping out a women who was in a war torn and dangerous situation in Eastern Europe due to the Russian Ukrainian war, preying on him and his kind nature and exploiting it to assuage their own greed an efforts to commit insurance fraud is truly unconscionable.

Marvin, Jeff, Tanner, Shannon and the Foley attorneys knew that they would have to turn as many people against Mr. Griffin as possible for the plan to succeed. This would be difficult as Mr.Griffin is a Kind person and doesn't go out of his way to attack or hurt others. Mr. Griffin admittedly has accrued plenty of enemy's, primarily from how Marvin treats others and disrespects people in our community.

They cleverly used people's ideological biases to their advantage in their actions. After Mr. Griffin hired foley to resolve the legal dispute with his separating client, they knew that the party in question was the son of a very prominent and well liked member of the Madison Catholic community. Since the Gay community is the new lightning rod of all and everything that is wrong with todays world bases upon advisement from the far right and Fox News, they had an angle. They used this to their advantage in the following ways, instead of the Foley attorneys acting ethically and actually trying to resolve it, they devised a scheme for which they would use Mr. Griffin as a proximal terrorist or suicide bomber of the prominent gentlemen's son's real estate business. This was done by fanning the flames of a lawsuit from the get go, with the help of the opposing counsel at Von Briesen and Roper.

They knew from Marvin and Jeff Levy that Mr. Griffin stands up for himself and wouldn't let them bully him regarding the business dispute. After the Foley Attorneys forged a second demand letter threatening to sue Mr. Griffin on Von Briesen and Roper letter head and served it on him, they knew he would ask them to commence a lawsuit. This was augmented by Marvin levy's "second chair counsel" position as Mr. Griffin was asking Marvin for advice on what to do legally as he referred Foley and Lardner to him, all the while taking a cut of the legal fees from Antonina Prestigiacomo. Once Mr. Griffin filed the lawsuit, that's when the real damage to the opposing party began, primarily at the hands of Marvin.

Marvin began to use his connections at the separating client's banks to convince them to foreclose on their client, despite the loans being currently paid. He also utilized cash payments to management at these banks to procure the calling of these clients loans with the threat of initiating foreclosure proceedings. This would force the client to have to refinance the loans at market rates which were double as much as their fixed and locked rate loans which they rightfully earned.

After such, word quickly spread in Madison that Mr.Griffin, a gay man and perceived to be Jew, was coming after one of their own unfairly. This railed the troops, so to speak and vilified Mr.Griffin, further enabling the insurance fraud scheme by harnessing the power of the entire catholic community, especially in Maple Bluff, to come the the aid of their own. Little did they know it was Marvin and Jeff and the insurance fraud parties behind the whole plot the entire time.

Ultimately, Mr. Griffin is not Jewish, but is perceived to be based upon his multi year association with Marvin and Jeff Levy. Mr. Griffin has looked into Judaism, primarily to appease Marvin and Jeff, but is thriving on his own with his karma focused and service oriented lifestyle.

Additionally, it is a stereotype and not exclusively true, but the catholic community and their subsequent ideology isn't generally supportive of Mr. Griffin's homosexual lifestyle. Mr. Griffin loves all people and does not view them in this fashioned, he only sorts people by if they are assholes or if they are not.

Crossing the line

After this, they turned their attention to trying and successfully turning Mr. Griffin's own mother against him and installing her as a federal witness. Mr. Griffin's mother is a retired speech and language pathologist specializing in working with early childhood children and would be deeply offended if her son was actually enticing or abusing children.

They used this knowledge of her past career to exploit her and prey on her vulnerabilities with their scheme, and recruiting her with there shame insurance fraud plot under the guise that she was helping her son "get the help he needed". Mr Griffin has been estranged off and on for many year, primarily because of her pervasive and unrelenting disrespect of Mr.Griffin's authentically lived gay lifestyle. Every-time he see or interacts with her, she asks "when is he going to snap out of it?" Referring to Mr.Griffin finding and flipping that magic light switch that turns him straight. Mr. Griffin laughs, that life took him into a massive depression some 15 years ago and almost ended in his suicide. He'll pass, but thank you.

Pretending to be a big shot

The Task force was tipped off my Mr. Griffin's internet service provider and Urban Land Interests Internet provider of the child pornography accessed at his home and business. Then the lead was shepherded by Maple Bluff Police Chief Tanner Nystrom who arranged the planting of evidence in the first place. Mr. Nystrom then used his connections at his former employer, the United States Attorneys Office, Western district of Wisconsin, where he was a low level counterterrorism specialist, to further fast tract the false investigation into Mr. Griffin.

The task force then began aggressively pursuing Mr. Griffin, all the while, the Foley attorneys, the Levy brothers, and the Maple bluff police chief Tanner Nystrom, and Ms.holt were the ones accessing and planting the pornography on Mr. Griffin's computers, in his home, downtown office, and related business computers, in support of their insurance fraud scheme, meant to defraud Berkshire Hathaway, Inc (NYSE: BRKa & BRKb).

Maple Bluff Police Chief Tanner Nystrom went as far as misusing and misapplying the United State Patriot Act on Mr. Griffin, to gain blocks and control access on his financial accounts, in an effort to starve him out of cash and prevent him from accessing his own money at banks, insured by the FDIC, and Securities Brokers covered under SIPC.
The United States Patriot Act was passed in response to the 9/11 terror attacks to protect our country from terrorism. Mr. Griffin is a highly educated financial professional and a natural U.S. Citizen, born in Janesville, Wisconsin.

Additional Supporting facts and their timelines

Summer 2021

Mr. Griffin, after Phil Levy's passing in February continued to try and heal from what had happened with the homicide plot and the grief of losing Phil in such a fast and truly cold way. Concurrently, Marvin continued to obsesses over Elizabeth Covington and the Eviction of Shannon holt to Mr. Griffin on a near daily bases. Since Ms. Holt's eviction, Mr. Griffin asked daily for "her to be reinstated" meaning for her to move back in. Mr. Griffin continued to remind Marvin that he wasn't comfortable living with someone who has tried to arrange his demise. Marvin, nearly daily, would fixate on Shannon's body and figure which he was obsessed with saying comments about her "luscious fat rolls" or discussing her "juicy fat tits". Mr. Griffin would continue to try and redirect Marvin away from these subjects with little luck.

On a scheduled walk on the Capitol Square in the early summer 2021, Marvin continued to obsess about Shannon moving back in to Mr. Griffin's residence. Mr. Griffin getting quite tired of this, raised his voice some and said "no, it's never happening, stop disrespecting me!" Marvin proceeded to have a meltdown, with his veins protruding from his neck and spasming body language said loudly with a grinding jaw…."I will FUCK you!" Mr. Griffin knew this was serious but didn't know the vertical that the fucking would take. I guess nearly three years later, now we know.

Scared, Mr Griffin walked Marvin the rest of the way around the capitol square and requested that he take him home. Mr.Griffin didn't speak to Marvin for some day, but at a certain point felt guilty as he has promised is late brother Phil Levy that he would take care of Marvin and Jeff. He proceeded to forgive Marvin, again, and resumed their scheduled dinners and walks, this ritual being very cathartic to Marvin, and by extension, but less so, to Mr. Griffin.

The summer of 2021 also brought with the help of Mr. Everett Reid with chores like care washing, lawn mowing, trimming, and weeding. Mr. Griffin, who was incapacitated from injury and unable to mow the yard, asked Mr Levy who he used for landscaping. Mr. Levy advised him of his contractor but said "they're expensive, I pay them roughly $30,000 per year". Mr Griffin rejected the idea of the expensive contractor and suggested that he wanted a neighborhood kid looking for a summer gig. He suggested this because its how he grew up when he was younger. Working from a young age to serve the community. Mr.Levy laughed, "Blake, this is a rich neighborhood, the kids don't work or have summer jobs". Mr. Griffin laughed, "I think I am the only one who mows their own yard!"

Mr. Levy said he would ask around and a few days later came back and said to call Stacy Reid from the county club. Mr. Griffin did and she sent her son Everett over to look at the lawn. Everett was maybe 14 at the time and seemed capable of doing the chores and lawn mowing. He wanted the work and he was kind, well, at least at first. Mr. Griffin showed him the lawn, the lawnmower, and Everett agreed to do the work. Mr. Griffin offered $20 per mow and Everett agreed. Mr.Griffin said he would prefer he used his lawn mower since it was new and safe. Mr.Griffin showed Everett his mangled left hand from when he hurt himself in a lawn mower accident at a young age. "Equipment can be dangerous" Mr.Griffin told Everett.

Mr. Griffin, knowing his parents from the Maple Bluff Country Club and reasonably trusting them, gave Everett a key to the detached garage to get the mower and use it. Mr. Griffin advised Everett this is your project, I'm not managing it, you keep the lawn mowed and looking good, come find me when you need your pay.

Everett agreed and did a bang up job for the rest of the summer. Later in the fall, Mr. Griffin showed Everett how to use the gas pressure washer and let him do the house washing that fall with mostly good results. Everett, looking for extra money asked if he could shovel snow that winter, Mr.Griffin agreed and paid him the lawn mowing rate of $20 each time.

Marvin began to try and infiltrate the seemingly good and functioning working structure that was developed and Everett's attitude and work quality began to deteriorate with the winter shoveling. Mr. Griffin found this disrespectful as he never contacted or tried to manage Mr. Levy's service providers. Shortly there after, Marvin began saying things like, "you've got to be careful with kid labor". Mr. Griffin found this strange as Marvin had never worked or served anyone as a youngster but rather was shipped to boarding school in Minnesota for his awful behaviors as a youth. Mr. Griffin admits, this is Marvin to a tee, no actual experience with a subject, but a running and righteous mouth full of comments about it. Sometimes there is charm in his dissonance.

The summer of 2022 brought with it Everett's infatuation with Mr. Griffin's nearly new and very expensive automobiles, as he was transitioning to high school and beginning the journey of learning to drive. He asked Mr. Griffin if he could start washing his cars for pay. Mr.Griffin initially disagreed as his vehicles cost a combined $360,000 new. Everett was simply engrossed in Mr. Griffin's G Wagon and his brand new AMG sedan and kept asking him to wash them and that he would outwork Mister Car Wash, which was Mr. Griffin primary cleaning agency.

Mr. Griffin finally caved in and let him try washing the G Wagon. "Don't scratch it or I'll have to tell your mom, he vividly remembers." The first wash went well and he did a great job for $60. The subsequent washes became much less attentive and unsatisfactory. This is right around the beginning of time that the insurance fraud scheme was hatched.

Marvin continued to say, watch out for kid labor!, and Mr Griffin continued to ignore him as he believed him to be ignorant. After one of the times car washing, Mr. Griffin noticed that Everett and his friend Jack Rectenwald, had broken a window switch in the brand new car, on the drives side panel. Mr. Griffin was ticked of as this $100,000 car had less than 2000 miles on it. He asked him about it and both Jack and Everett Lied to his face and Mr.Griffin could tell that by their voice tones and lack of eye contact.

Additionally, a pair of $800 Dita sunglasses was missing from the automobile. Further, a sticky substance was sprayed on the front two floor mats, which made no sense because you would never do such a thing. The substance, presumably a spray on adhesive sort of product was incongruent to the products that Everett said he was using for the car wash as Mr.Griffin asked him to show him his bucket of cleaning supply's before allowing this washing in the first place. Mr. Griffin knew that these two had gone nuts and were being disrespectful, but he wanted to get his nearly thousand dollar pair of sunglasses back before letting them go. Mr. Griffin, waited a few days and called Everett to ask him about the sunglasses. He said he had not seen them and the call ended shortly there after. Mr Griffin knew he had to get more creative, a few days later he called back and told Everett that "the sun glasses were an expensive gift from his sister and that she would kill him if he had lost them already". Everett seemed more concerned, and Mr.Griffin asked him to do a detailed look for them. Everett agreed and came over later that evening and used his garage key to let himself in.

Mr.Griffin had already pre unlocked both vehicles and stayed inside when he come by. Everett came to the door a few minutes later with the Dita sunglasses in hand, and said that he found them under the seat and was sorry for the mix up. Mr.Griffin could tell that he was lying but was happy to have the sunglasses "un-stolen". Mr.Griffin knew this was impossible since he looked under both seats and in every possible spot in both vehicles for them.

Although not apparent at the time, this was simply the begin stages of the fabricated sexual contact with Everett in support of the insurance fraud scheme. The sticky substance sprayed on the rubber mats was on purpose, and meant to collect hair and fibers to prove that he was in the vehicle. The Dita sunglasses captured would have ultimately been suggested as a gift or payment for the sexual contact that Mr.Griffin never had with Everett. And the broken window switch would have been implied as something that was traded with Everett for sexual contact under threat of telling his mother about it's damage to the expensive AMG sedan.

This all occurred shortly after hiring Foley and Lardner in June 2022, who coerced the turning of Marvin and Jeff against Mr.Griffin, and the ultimate, together, proceeded with the commencement of the insurance fraud scheme with the help of Chief Tanner Nystrom as their law enforcement ring leader.

Fall / Spring 2022

The fall and spring of 2022 and 2023 were very rough. Marvin had really bared down with his demonic behavior and abuse, mostly pertaining to the lawsuit, which Mr. Griffin continued to come to him for advise on, unbeknownst to him, that Marvin was simple using it to screw him, receive a revenue share, and set up the insurance fraud scheme which would lead to Mr. Griffin's undoing and imprisonment. After being exhausted for nearly $70,000, he followed Marvin one day, without him noticing, over to Attorney Prestigiacomo's house, where Mr. Griffin watched from a far, Marvin going inside and leaving in his blue Mercedes Benz SUV shortly there after. Mr. Griffin knew at this point, it was time to install a performance improvement plan with the Foley attorneys, with an attached threat of termination, should they not perform. He did just that, in a professional but firm message he advised them they had 60 days to bring the matter to resolution or they would be replaced.

Less than 48 hours later the case was brought to resolution. No money was recovered, nor did the Foley Attorneys try to recover any, $70,000 was spent by Mr. Griffin, and Mr. Griffin's previous client had their bank accounts frozen, loans called and all properties pushed near the brink of foreclosure, and something near $50,000 in legal fees they owed. Their attorney also was fired. None of this was know to Mr. Griffin during the legal process or disclosed or told to him by the Foley Attorneys or Marvin Levy. Mr.Griffin would only find out about the bank calling the loans shortly before this claim period began

Mr. Griffin strongly believes the visit he witnessed to her home was Marvin picking up his cash payment revenue share from Antonina Prestigiacomo.

August 2023

During the month of August, Mr. Griffin continued to notice strange behavior from Shannon holt and Marvin Levy. During conversations with them, he notice that they always seemed to have their grips on the cell phones and with the microphone portion pointed near or towards him. Although Mr. Griffin isn't camera shy, he has little interest in being recorded, without advisement, and for nefarious reasons.

He knew something was up but had yet to discover the sinister or full nature of this scheme. Ms. holt would alway try and bring up Marvin and Jeff when Mr. Griffin and her were alone and get him to discuss their wealth and charity work. Mr. Griffin provided commentary of the obvious, "they're rich"…so what?

Ms. Holt would continue to try and manipulate the conversation as to position Mr. Griffin and his word tracks to falsely illuminate that he was some sort of gold digger. Mr. Griffin, per usual, would remind Shannon is you want the good life, you have to work for it. Marvin is a handful, most people can't stand speaking to him for 10 minute because he's very mean most of the time, let alone Mr. Griffin's multi year relationship with him.

This concept continues to evade her reality as in every and all of life's situations, Ms. holt try's to figure out how she can do less and get more. Mr. Griffin's process is much different as he finds ways to give more and take less. Mr. Griffin and Ms. Holt's fundamental views on life and our purpose here on earth are quite different. Mr. Griffin try's to serve our world and make it better through building others up. Ms. Holt's process involves her tearing others down in an attempt to elevate herself. Mr. Griffin's approach drive true and authentic happiness, which is clearly written all over his face and body language at all times. Ms. Holt's approach yields nothing and fosters negative, unhappiness, and depression. Mr. Griffin hopes that Ms. Holt will one day join him in his life philosophy of "do it for the good of us all"

September 2023

September brought more strange behavior, especially on behalf of Marvin. Previously, in the summer of 2022, shortly after the time of hiring Foley and Lardner, Mr. Griffin began to received numerous pieces of obsolete electronic equipment as gifts from Marvin, which he would bring over in the mornings of their daily coffee sessions around 8:30am. About a year prior , he had brought over an old television set that was approximately from 2014, saying he had upgraded his and that he was gifting his old one to Mr. Griffin. Mr. Griffin advises Marvin that he already had 4 televisions in his home that were modern and up to date and had little time to watch any of them.

To be polite, Mr. Griffin took the approximately 50" unit that he dropped off in 2022 and placed it in the back sunroom area, which was lightly furnished and had never actually been used as a living space since Mr. Griffin full occupied the property in December 2016, but rather for storage. Mr. Griffin plugged in but never powered up the Sony unit and it sat there unused until its destruction. Further, some weeks later, Marvin brought over his old iMac desktop computer from approximately 2013 and gifted it to Mr. Griffin. Mr. Griffin laughed and said that he had plenty of computers already that were all new or very new due to his cloud based business needs. The computer gift somehow brought back some spilt second, but fond memories of Mr.Griffin's grandmother in the late 1990's, when his family purchased her a first time computer and set it up for her, only to come back the next day to find the machine decorated with doilies, silk flowers, and plants covering the keyboard and printer, making it inoperable.

Mr.Griffin again advised Marvin that he had no use for the 10 year old iMac, but told him that he would recycle it when he got around to it. In the interim, Mr. Griffin placed it on a desk in his den area that he never sat in because there was no chair at that desk. Mr. Griffin never applied power to the unit and it sat unused until its destruction. In late September, Mr. Griffin received a third piece of obsolete technology during Marvin's morning coffee visit, this time an iPhone 5s, it its original box. Earlier in the morning, Mr.Griffin had received an email from Apple Inc. (DJI: AAPL) asking for traded in devices and offering discounts and gift cards.

Mr. Griffin knew something was very off, because since Marvin is such a cheap person, why wouldn't he take the devices for trade-in credit himself, instead of giving them to him.

Mr. Griffin briefly looked at 9 year old cellular phone and placed it on the counter. He had planned at some point to get to the Apple Store for a new telephone and look around at the latest tech. He further had ultimately planned to rally up all the old technology items from Marvin as well as a few old phones and a portable computer of his own and do a mass trade in/recycle at the store. Since these items has little economic value and Mr.Griffin had little time to pursue the visit due to being bogged down with work and Marvin's perennial antics, he never made it there. This is quite lucky as recent readings have advised that Apple Inc. searches all traded in electronics for this type of minor pornography and content that Marvin was planting. Mr. Griffin approves of this policy by Apple Inc. because he believes that it helps to further protect children from perverts.

The following morning or the next day, near the end of September, Marvin arrived with the usual 4 newspapers and requested his coffee without saying please, like always, which Mr. Griffin made and provided. He was acting strange once again and during their stock market discussions, he abruptly blurted out and asked Mr.Griffin "if he believed that anyone would ever plant child pornography on someone?". Mr. Griffin thought that Marvin was having an Asperger spell at first and ignored him. A minute or two later, Marvin jostled his right ear and again asked "if Mr. Griffin thought that anyone would plant child pornography on someone?"

Alarmed and immediately noticing the non normal touching of his right ear, Mr. Griffin retorted "I don't know, probably, people are fucked up". Marvin continued to touch his right ear without scratching it like a person normally would. Mr. Griffin became further suspicious of Marvin.

In hindsight it is believed to be an inner ear audio device from law enforcement Marvin was repositioning, offering word tracts and speaking questions to say. This was procured after months prior they had already been access child pornography on Mr. Griffin's computers and WIFI network, which Ms. Holt and Marvin both has the password to as they came over regularly to Mr.Griffin's residence.

All the sudden, everything clicked in Mr. Griffin's head and he thought "this creep has planted child porn all over my house and all these old technology devices are loaded with it".

Mr Griffin, quickly began to move towards the door and open it without using his words in hopes that Marvin would take the hint to get the hell out of his house. He didn't of course and kept on complaining about something in current events that was unrelated, not happy about DEI at the university and Robin Vos, or similar, he recalls. Marvin constantly called for the elimination of DEI at the university, but Mr.Griffin hopes that one day he will get some DEI education of his own. Mr. Griffin finally walked him outside and he left.

Late that afternoon he called Jeff Levy and asked to meet him for dinner immediately, Jeff said he was almost to the esquire club and would meet in 20 minutes. Mr. Griffin arrived and began to explain to Jeff that Marvin was losing it, that he had turned maniacal and destructive and that he was turning his insanity onto Mr. Griffin.

Mr. Griffin advised Jeff, that as much as he disliked how poorly Marvin treated everyone besides him, that there was a red line in the sand that he was not going to tolerate it being brought to him directly. Mr. Griffin advises Jeff that he had already lost nearly all of his friends because of Marvin's behavior and grotesque sexual harassment of mostly married women in the Village neighborhood.

Mr. Griffin told Jeff that he had "done everything that he could to take care of him" but wasn't sure what to do anymore. He further started to explain to Jeff the issues with Foley and Lardner and that based upon prior conversations with Phil before he died, Mr. Griffin believed that Marvin was cutting him self in a revenue share from Attorney Prestigiacomo. Jeff's eyes turned black and demonic immediately. Mr. Griffin returned home to find a bean bag round shot at his front office window, breaking the outer pane. Mr. Griffin had caught the racketeers red handed. This conversation was also recorded, and this is highlighted by that fact that upon arrival home shortly there after, Mr.Griffins front window had been shot with a bean bag gun round.

"This was just 72 hours before the task force tried to commence the raid at Mr. Griffin's Roxbury residence"

Mr. Griffin will never forget the Mayflower 18 wheeler semi showing up to move a "new resident" into the Gordon Apartments. Laughable since the apartments are tiny and who uses all clear plastic totes with yellow lids to move? At 4pm that Friday after emailing Chief Tanner Nystrom and cc'ing the Foley attorney's ;) that he "wanted an attorney and wished to remain silent", Mr. Griffin parked his G class Mercedes Benz in the driveway, backed in as if he was getting ready to leave for dinner with Marvin at the Madison Club, who had strangely that day "double confirmed" his usual and always the same pick up time of 5:45pm with Mr. Griffin earlier.

To throw off the task force and Mayflower "movers" Mr. Griffin began the incinerations in the back yard immediately. He did so using his metal burn pit canister and lid as well as fire safe best practices, including a live running garden hose next to the device.

Due to the sensitive financial nature of Mr. Griffin's work and the fact that his clientele are disproportionally derived of protected class members of the gay, lesbian, and transgender communities, he knew that to avenge their rights to privacy, as well as his own, and to protect them, he must act quickly and swiftly.

To do so, all physical and digital client materials, as well as computer and electronic equipment that has become compromised at the hands of the insurance fraud parties was completely and utterly obliterated. These destructions ultimately took days and included everything and anything that Maple Bluff Police Chief Nystrom, Marvin & Jeff Levy, Matt Lee, Antonina Prestigiacomo, Jennifer Luther and Shannon holt had planted or arranged the planting of, in his residence.

Further, this including disguised, but ultimately located and subsequently destroyed, drugs. One such discovery was a single use laundry product called "color guard" that Ms. holt had sent home with Mr. Griffin without explanations as to why from her Janesville apartment in mid September 2023.

"You need this for your laundry" Shannon said during a recorded conversation.

A closer look at the contents of the product revealed that it contained approximately 4 ounces of the street drug, "moly". The product was of foreign origin, with it's brand and wording in English. It's fictitious products manufacturer was based out of Frankfort, Germany. This was to give the illusion that Mr. Griffin, who had connected via airplane in Frankfort, Germany during an international trip, was trafficking drugs internationally, with intent to sell them. Due to the prosperous nature of Mr. Griffin's commercial endeavors, investments, and business, he has not, nor does her ever plan to, traffic drugs internationally. Further, Mr. Griffin is aware of the highly illegal nature of this conduct and would never partake for fear of jeopardizing his freedoms and the obvious fact that doing so is wrong.

Further, it included a large quantity of dispensary marijuana edibles and gummies that Ms. Holt had dropped off unannounced the previous week after visiting her grandfather in Michigan. Her grandfather, and 88 years old Korean War veteran is in ill health and very lonely.

Ms. Holt refuses to help take care of him in any way, views him as a burden, and was recently written out of her grandfathers will by him with the assistance of her Aunt Marie, who herself has terminal cancer and just a few short months to live. In conversations with Mr. Griffin, Ms. Holt said or eluded to numerous times that she wished "he would just die already". Mr Griffin found this perverse, since he is a quite nice and jovial man with over 300 jumps from an airplane into enemy lines during the Korean War in the 1950's.

Upon arrival of the drugs to Mr. Griffin's home, the large white bag of Marijuana assortments, was stapled shut at the top.

When Ms. Holt entered Mr. Griffin's residence with the bag of drugs, he immediately watched her hold up and flash the white bag towards the municipal camera system's view point, through Mr. Griffin's first and second front kitchen windows, placing the drugs in plain view of the municipal camera system's zoom telephoto lenses.

Mr. Griffin believes the bag was approaching 2 pounds worth of contents, but never opened it, nor weighed it, or used any of it's contents. This planted evidence was to give the illusion that Mr.Griffin, who had recently accompanied Ms. Holt to attend her grandmothers funeral in Michigan, was trafficking drugs interstate, with intent to sell them.

Due to the prosperous nature of Mr. Griffin's business, investment, and commercial endeavors, he has not, no does he ever plan to traffic Marijuana for sale, interstate. He knows that doing so is wrong, and highly illegal and would jeopardize his freedoms, as such, his business, and his relentless efforts to accrue enough wealth to be able to financially indemnify the long term care of his disabled brother, Zachary Griffin.

Like millions of Americans, from time to time, Mr. Griffin utilizes the medicinal effects and powers of medical grade marijuana. His usage is and was primarily to quell mental and emotional anxiety caused almost exclusively from his work caretaking and being friends with Marvin Levy. Mr. Levy's profound Asperger's spectrum disorder and adjoining poor treatment of others had a tendency to overwhelm Mr. Griffin, who has an exceptionally high emotional intelligence and non verbal environmental sensory perception.

Further, Mr. Griffin believes that the Gay dating and hookup application called Grindr, was to be used as an escape goat and vertical to justify his (non) dealings of the aforementioned drugs and phony break in attempt, which never actually occurred.

He believes this because Marvin Levy, upon Mr. Griffin advising him that his front window had been smashed, and shortly after the dinner with Jeff Levy, told him that "it was probably one is his disgruntled boyfriends that broke the window". He encouraged Mr. Griffin to report it to the Police Department.

Mr. Griffin did so via the non emergency phone number of Dane County Communications. After the report, Mr. Griffin received a call from a Maple Bluff Police officer back shortly. The Officer said that the Municipal cameras didn't capture the crime and "that they couldn't see that far". Mr. Griffin, knowing the officer was lying, played coy and ended the call with a smile and a thank you for trying.

Marvin, in an unbelievable display of disrespectful arrogance, called Mr. Griffin back and offered to provide him one of his "ADT security triangle signs sticks", that Mr. Griffin could pick up him and that he left it in front of his garage door.

Playing along, Mr. Griffin drove over to Marvin's residence and picked up the sign and placed it in the ground at his home, near the front door steps. He kept it there until shortly after the first failed raid attempt as to not draw suspicions of his knowledge of their scheme and forthcoming raid.

Marvin continued to recite to Ms. Holt that "it was probably one of Blake's angry boyfriends that broke the window". Mr. Griffin knows this to be true as Ms. Holt has recited that same conclusion back to him in a written letter she sent to him in the U.S. Mail in Mid October. The letter further cited how much she loves and cares about Mr.Griffin and how concerned she was about him and his recent absence from her life.

Mr. Griffin is in awe at her arrogance and two faced personality. She further has recited these concerns to Mr.Griffin's Mother and preyed upon her worry of her son, which is predicated on false evidence of minor enticements and accessing of child pornography that she helped facility and plant in his home and business in the first place.

This is occurring simultaneously as she is trying and continues to try and set Mr. Griffin up for crimes which he did not do (Oct 1st - Current). This has further destabilized Rhonda and Zachary Griffin's household, lifestyle, and emotional welfare.

Mr. Griffin remembers the most hurtful of Marvin's behaviors to be that of his stalking and obsession of Ms. Dunn, who lives on Kensington Dr. in Maple Bluff, and her 12 year old daughter, who was sick with terminal cancer. Mr. Griffin remembers how Marvin would stalk, obsesses, drive by, and try and visit and torment her, up to and including after her daughter ultimately passed away. He would further try and hurt and destroy the reputation of her boyfriend's legal career, attempting to destabilize her during her already fragile state.

This was, in his words "so he could have Ms. Dunn all to himself", preying on her vulnerability and compressed emotional state. The neighbors and most of the Village's Catholic community refused to speak to Mr. Griffin after this putrid stalking and harassment of Ms. Dunn. Mr. Griffin tried to make Marvin stop numerous times, but he would not and became hostile and aggressive every time Mr. Griffin tried to intervene in his fixation of her. "Stop controlling me!" Marvin would yell in a tantrum.

This was the most hurtful period to Mr. Griffin and it made him cry on numerous occasions. He still remembers Phil levy telling him on his deathbed in 2021 "taking care of Marvin won't be easy". Phil could not have been more accurate.

After Ms. Dunn's daughter passed away, Marvin continued to harass and defame her and her boyfriend as they wouldn't speak to him. He made comments to Mr. Griffin that he could not believe that she was running a GoFundMe page to raise money for the funeral. Mr. Griffin tried to explain to Marvin, and knowing so from personal experience that Cancer breaks families financially. He didn't care. "It's so distasteful, I can't believe she's doing that" referring to the GoFundMe campaign.

Further he continued to make disgusting and insensitive comments about her daughters final disposition, which was cremation. "I can't believe she fried the kid" he continued to say and obsess daily about it for weeks. Mr. Griffin continued to remind him that traditional burials are expensive and that this was perhaps the only feasible option after exhausting her financial resources on her daughter's cancer care and having her yoga studio functionally closed for 2 years due to Madison's protracted covid lockdowns. "She's shouldn't have done that, I can't believe her" he continued to recite. The comments made Mr. Griffin's stomach turn.

The Last Week of September 2023

The last week of September was truly mind boggling with Marvin. During one of Mr. Griffin's walks with Marvin, at picnic point, he began making disrespectful comment to Mr. Griffin that he didn't think that he would be Zachary Griffin's guardian ever and that his chances of having a family "were looking pretty bleak".

Mr. Griffin was perplexed and hurt. Marvin would not tell Mr. Griffin why or how this was to be. He further made comments that Mr. Griffin was going away for "a while to learn a lesson" without explanation. Mr Griffin didn't recall needing to learn a lesson as he has done nothing wrong and had been good to the Levy family. Then Marvin made references to Mr.Griffin about stealing his Mother and disabled brother from him. This was too far and Mr.Griffin knew he and Marvin's time together was quickly coming to an end. Marvin continued to huff along, unconcerned, in a manic and arrogant tirade. Mr. Griffin couldn't get away from him fast enough.

September 29th, 2023

Earlier in the afternoon, he figured he would go take Chief Nystrom's temperature and make sure he had things right in his mind. He went to the village hall and asked for the chief. Tanner came around the office corner cubicle in his kakis and a button down tucked in, he saw Mr. Griffin and immediately returned around the corner and put on his Axon device with attached camera and came out the secure door.

It took Mr. Griffin all of a second and a half to figure him out. As a shareholder in Scottsdale, AZ based Axon enterprises, Inc. (NASDAQ: AXON), Mr. Griffin knows all of their equipment well and recognized the attempt to record him instantly. Mr. Nystrom then immediately tried to "perp walk" Mr. Griffin towards the conference room at the end of the hall. Deciding to play with him a little bit, Mr. Griffin gave him 6 or 7 steps and then stopped and told the chief he wasn't looking for trouble and he hoped he had a good day and turned and left Village Hall. It took Mr. Griffin less than two seconds of analysis to feel the toxic mixture of greed, hate, and jealous on his body language and face. Walking out, Mr. Griffin knew it was time to act, no more waiting. He continued to think on the brief drive home, "did that little puke just try to perp walk me at village hall, good lord, he needs Jesus."

To protect his clients, and their privacy, many of whom are Gay, Bisexual, and transgender, Mr. Griffin commenced incinerations of proprietary physical client documents, beginning at 4pm, as task force agents were setting up out front with plans to conduct a warrantless raid.

The agents had planned to use a staged home invasion and burglary as their segway to accomplish this, as Mr. Griffin was to be at dinner at the Madison Club in Madison, WI during the usual time of 545pm with Marvin Levy and Shannon holt. The justification for this break in would have been the previous "break in" attempt days earlier based upon the broken front window, that was unsolvable according to MBPD.

Maple Bluff Police were the one's who actually shot the front window with a bean bag gun, while Mr. Griffin was at dinner with Mr. Jeff Levy at Esquire club, a few days before the Friday September 29th raid attempt. Mr. Griffin doesn't have any direct enemies as he treats people and the world kindly, but his earned ascension in life recently has regrettably made jealous people obsess over him. Mr.Griffin is glad he doesn't live his life in this low and resentful vibration.

Mr. Griffin wasn't going to report the smashed window because it was obvious it had to do with the insurance scam, not Mr. Griffin's love life. Marvin insisted that he report it though so why not. Upon reporting the broken window to Dane County Communications, the responding officer lied to Mr. Griffin on the phone that there was no camera footage and that "the cameras can't see that far". This is despite three fixed base municipal cameras, two with telephoto zoom and swivel lenses, being positioned and pointed directly at Mr. Griffin's house, less that 20 yards from the front of Mr. Griffin's broken middle upper front office window.

The fictitious motive for the raid would have been that Mr. Griffin was selling drugs on the gay dating application, Grindr, and that a previous boyfriend was breaking in to steal the drugs, that Shannon holt had brought over a week earlier. A large quantity of dispensary Marijuana edibles (approximately 2 pounds), which she purchased and transported interstate from Michigan and provided to Mr. Griffin unannounced.

After Maple Bluff police "responded" to the burglary they would have entered Mr. Griffin's master bedroom closet to find the large quantity of Marijuana from Ms. Holt a week earlier and planted a mossburg 12 gauge pistol grip shotgun, legally purchased by Mr. Griffin in 2008 that has been in possession of Mr. Griffin's mother, Rhonda Griffin, since fall 2008 after he nearly used the weapon, loaded with hallow point cartridges 15 years earlier, to commit suicide.

The task force had already flipped Ms. Rhonda Griffin against her son and commandeered her assistance to capture Mr. Griffin based upon false reports they made to her about the possession and access of child pornography and minor child enticement. All of which was in support of the insurance fraudsters plan to defraud Mr. Griffin's insurer, a subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway, Inc (NYSE: BRK.a & BRK.b) out of a $5,000,000 payout.

With the found firearm and drugs, they would have called for a search warrant and received one immediately.

Initially the task force was completely clueless as to how to proceed, based upon the dumbfounded looks on their faces, as they stood on the sidewalk outside near the Gordon Apartment building watching the smoke coming from the backyard. This occurred at around 5pm when Mr. Griffin went to check things out in front after commencing the incinerations.

September 30th, 2023

The incinerations continued. Initially dumbfounded at first, this quickly changes to vapidness and the presence and harassment by police and task force agents accelerated quickly.

October 1st, 2023

Even after the failed raid attempt, Marvin continued to come over or try to come over to Mr Griffin's residence in the mornings to bring newspapers and get his coffee for 3-4 days before no trespassing signed were posted. He did this as Mr. Griffin believes to try and further the law enforcement addenda and continue to press his insurance fraud scheme, not out of love or kindness, as one might hope, or expect. Mr. Griffin entertained it out of feeling sorry for Marvin. During this brief discussion, Marvin advising Mr. Griffin that he was "going to learn a lesson" without saying what or why.

Marvin then made references to a Mossburg 12 gauge black shotgun that was planted or was going to be planted at Mr.Griffin residence. In hindsight, Mr. Griffin believes that Marvin and Jeff's window cleaners, Steve Toltzen and crew, who he had used for 3-4 years, had planted the weapon a few days earlier when they cleaned the Mr. Griffin's windows, but that it was subsequently removed by Rhonda Griffin after he visited her the morning of Oct 2nd in Janesville at her house.

During that visit Mr. Griffin returned the Passlode Finish nailer that she continued to request back that was a gift 6 years earlier. After giving her the nailer, Mr.Griffin advised her "that she better come to his house and pick up the rest of her tools", and winked at her.

Mr.Griffin was trying to imply to her to come and retrieve the planted shotgun, that Marvin had made reference to earlier. She came the following day and was witnessed with task force agents, from a window in the house, in and near Mr.Griffin's detached garage. He can only surmise at this point a juggler key was used to gain entry to the garage and the weapon retrieved.

How arrogant that Marvin and the insurance fraud parties had already thought that Mr. Griffin was going down in flames based upon their setup. Marvin, then further went on to make illuminating comments about the unauthorized and forged bank accounts that Attorney Matt Lee had opened, using Mr. Griffin's divers license that he copied for him for completing Marvin's healthcare power of attorney at foley and Lardner.

Matt Lee used this ID and Mr. Griffin's name, without his knowledge. These new account numbers were replaced on digital documents that were on Mr.Griffin's cloud system awaiting analysis by him and review by Mr. Griffin's clients who wished to make an investment that he was for them via wire transfer. Mr. Griffin's mind was completely blown at this creepy disrespect and fracture of trust. Luckily the invest was never made by Blake's clients.

This Mossberg Shotgun, which Mr.Griffin nearly committed suicide with 15 years prior had been in his mother's possession since very late 2008. Mr. Griffin had not seen, possessed, touched, or used it since then, nor does he wish to. Mr.Griffin ultimately wants the gun destroyed, as it doesn't need to be in Rhonda Griffin's hands any longer due to her misconduct and disrespect of the weapon and its powers..

How would Marvin know it even existed, he wondered? This was the first clue to Mr.Griffin that his Mother had been lied to and used as a party in the insurance fraud scheme.

Later, at a check in visit with Marvin at his office at Phillips Distribution Corporation, he was just a monster in his demeanor toward's Mr. Griffin. During the short talk, he told Mr.Griffin that he as going to learn a less that his late brother Phil Levy never did, and that was "that is doesn't matter what other people think of you". Then proceeded to make implying references that he was "going to make Mr. Griffin a pedophile" to teach him this lesson.

On Marvin's desk, behind where he was sitting, Marvin had a large sized blown up picture of he and Elizabeth Covington from before the homicide attempt vacationing in California, positioned next to his computer monitor, as if it were a second monitor.

When asked about the photo, Marvin became extremely defensive and referenced that they are still together, initially angry in his body language then shortly there after cowering like a young child as if Mr. Griffin was trying to take a toy away from him. Marvin's incongruence with reality really hurt Mr. Griffin's feeling in that moment, and to this day he refuses to believe the possibility of the homicide plot, despite being educated about it dozens of times. This homicide plot and subsequent breakup from Elizabeth occurred over three years prior to this meeting at Phillips Distribution Corporation.

Absolutely shocked and hurt, Mr. Griffin replied to Marvin that you don't make someone a pedophile, they either are a pedophile or they are not. Marvin disagreed and could not understand this obvious concept. He continued on cackling about how Mr. Griffin was to be locked up for 15 years.

Blow away…Mr. Griffin got up and headed towards the door, knowing that he would never see Marvin again based upon the fact that demons had overtaking his old friend.

Ultimately, Mr. Griffin doesn't and hasn't cared about people's opinions for sometime, and his presence and taking care of Marvin and his insanity for years should illuminate that.

Mr. Griffin has lost contact with many who he used he know based upon Marvin's stalking, disrespect, and poor treatment of others. Being forced to pursue friend groups outside of Madison, just to have a social life.

Mr. Griffin does care what he thinks of himself, and since he does, he's uninterested in letting greedy and despicable people paint him with a brush that he is not.. Further, since Mr. Griffin is quite a nice and kind person, he has no desire to have people treat him poorly or be suspicious of him everywhere he goes for no reason. As such, Marvin's delusions and fascinations with branding Mr. Griffin as a pervert, to teach him some sort of lesson and commit insurance fraud, are rejected.

Back at home, the task force and village police began to get very angry and started to utilize the village fire department to show up and harass Mr. Griffin, who was burning safely and legally according to village rules. A letter from a few days later dated October 3rd, 2023 from Police Chief and Administrator Tanner Nystrom, comically suggested that household items were being burned. Mr. Griffin can confirm, that he did in fact burn the planted evidence which Tanner Nystrom and the insurance fraud parties placed or planted in his residence.

Since these item of planted evidence included household items, they were, in fact, burned. Mr. Nystrom continues in a October 3rd, 2023 letter suggesting that Mr. Griffin's burning created "voluminous toxic smoke in a residential area presenting and active and immediate danger to public health and safety".

Since Mr. Nystrom and the insurance fraud parties planted such evidence, which was later determined by Mr. Griffin to require destruction, by extension, the incineration of these item and the subsequent lose of their personal property value and use, would not have been needed, had they not planted such evidence in the first place. Mr. Griffin hopes that moving ahead, Mr. Nystrom considers the health and welfare of others, and the air that we breath, before considering to or planting evidence in the future.

In the evening of October 1st, Mr. Griffin, exhausted from the days of incinerations, booked a one night stay at the Edgewater hotel to shower, clean up and recombobulate himself. He grabbed clean cloths, underwear, socks, and new shoes, and jumped in his Mercedes Benz E53 AMG sedan, headed towards the hotel near the Capitol.

Covered in smoke and soot, Mr. Griffin checked in and was given an upstairs room in the main building. He promptly disrobed and showered, having to wash himself and his hair several times to get clean. Additionally, he tended to his wounds which included bad first, second, and thirds degree burns on his hands, arms, and legs. After the shower, Mr. Griffin redressed and was still very shaken from the events of the proceeding days. Unable to sleep at that point, He decided to go take a walk and clear is head in the area of the outer capitol square.

After this walk he returned back to the hotel in the late evening of October 1st 2023 to retire for the evening. He went up the elevator, and to his room. He immediately noticed the do not disturb sign he had placed on the door had been moved slightly and was, in fact, disturbed. Using his electronic key card, he opened the door and walked a few steps inside and immediately sensed that the room had been entered in his absence.

Alarmed, Mr Griffin looked in the bathroom to find hairs and fibers on the obviously clean luxury hotel bathroom floor. The bed covers appeared to have been jostled. He knew he had to depart immediately and return home. He gathered his things and went to the front desk to check out. He spoke to the the bellman and desk clerk, who were two obvious undercover agents in hotel uniforms by this point. He returned the card key to the clerk at the desk, advised him the room has been entered while he was out and left immediately, heading to the parking structure and back into his Mercedes Benz AMG sedan. Mr. Griffin returned to his Maple Bluff home.

October 2rd, 2023

Mr. Griffin returned back inside briefly to grab a passlode numatic finish nailer and it's orange case that his Mother had gifted to him 6 years earlier, but kept asking for back, for an unknown reason. He planned to take this to her house in Janesville and check up on things, and specifically, Zachary.

Mr. Griffin began to head to Janesville to check on his Mother and Brother. Mr Griffin was followed aggressively by numerous under cover agents in cars and light trucks on Interstate 90, as well as decoy agents driving construction vehicles with suspicious company names with no local phone numbers, no DOT stickers, or home locations printed on the doors.

In the distance behind, he could see the Mayflower semi from the initial day of the raid, catching up. Just before the Whitewater exit, he could see the interstate slowing down in front of him and knew what was about to happen, they were about to close the freeway and raid him and the car right there. Thinking quickly and moving with a purpose to protect his freedoms, Mr. Griffin, quickly exited on the Whitewater exit and zig zagged the back country roads to Janesville, ultimately arriving via 151 south through Milton.

Upon arriving at her subdivision he could see a silver undercover law enforcement vehicle driving towards him and out of the Arbor Ridge luxury subdivision, Zachary was in the middle of the back seat. He headed to his mother's house and rang the door bell, no answer, he walked around the back and knocked, nothing. Mr. Griffin then cuddled up on the outdoor furniture and took a cat nap. Shortly later, his mother opened the door at the screened porch and came out to the patio. She asked right away "where were you last night?" Mr. Griffin knew immediately she had been compromised and was hyper aware from that point forward. He went inside to visit Zachary and say hello, this cheered Mr. Griffin up right away.

He could tell that Zachary's demeanor and body language were lethargic and deeply depressed. This infuriated Mr. Griffin, "how dare these insurance fraudsters disrupt him, his peace, and his home life!" And for how long had this been going on he immediately wondered?

More than 15 months from the looks of the timeline of this claim. Rhonda started to touch her ear without scratching it and Mr. Griffin immediately knew she had an inner ear device inserted and was repositioning it. She immediately began to offer things like water in a cup and food. He knew it wasn't kindness but to attempts to collect his DNA. He knew he was crashing hard and had to sleep but not there with her. He asked to shower and lay down for a second. She showed him the secondary bathroom and strangely said she has never used it since moving in three year ago, he again knew it was a set up. Mr. Griffin showered and put on clean shorts which were Zachary's.

Traumatized and tired, He knew he needed to leave quickly as the zeal in Rhonda's eyes indicated that she could not be trusted. Her body language almost stoic and dead. No warmth, no love, just nothing. Completely freaked out, Mr Griffin went to talk to Zachary, who was sitting at the kitchen table, be could see his cell phone game that he was playing and minimize the screen. There was audio recording happening underneath on the home screen. Blown away that these dirtbags were using Zachary against him, he knew it was time to leave immediately.

Mr. Griffin, due to his advance education and the fact that he has been an equity investor in dozens of pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies over the years, knows enough to be dangerous when it comes to DNA testing and sequencing.

"This was a perfect opportunity to re-weaponize Zachary back against them"….Mr. Griffin thought.

Rhonda had gone towards her master bedroom, in the back hall, on the other side of the first floor, presumably to talk to and received instructions from agents, who were clearly in the other room of the house. He asked Zachary to come with him but he was engrossed in the phone game, so Mr. Griffin picked him up and carried him towards the secondary office, bedroom, and connecting bath. Once he was on his feet, Mr Griffin walked Zachary in the bathroom and holding his hand on Zachary's, touched everything that Mr. Griffin had touched in the bathroom and hallway area.

He could hear Rhonda coming to investigate from the kitchen area and Zachary let out his first smile and giggle. Mr. Griffin rubbed his nose against Zachary's and he let out another giant giggle. Rhonda had just entered the adjoining bathroom from the office side with a curious look on her face. Mr. Griffin immediately picked up Zachary again and let him down on the bed he was just in, a few feet away, and jumped on it with him. Zachary continued to smile, giggle, and for once was happy again. Mr. Griffin whispered in Zachary's ear, "thank you, love you". He giggled again, touching Mr.Griffin's face with his hand and smelling him. He promptly got up and returned toward the kitchen to resume his phone game. Rhonda had an annoyed look on her face.

Mr Griffin, started walking towards the back door sun porch exit, and Rhonda quickly followed. Mr. Griffin sat on the outdoor porch for a brief second and Rhonda said let me go back inside and get my sunglasses.

Mr. Griffin knew she was going to retrieve a pair of Ray-ban video camera recording sunglasses glasses, similar to google glasses. Mr. Griffin immediately got up and walked around the house towards his Mercedes Benz AMG sedan to leave. Rhonda went nuts and chased Mr. Griffin out front, with her exiting her front door and careening towards him. Mr. Griffin shouted "I Love you" as he jumped in his Mercedes Benz AMG sedan, exited quickly, and drove back towards Madison.

Back in Madison, the Incinerations continued for most of the day, as well as a visit from the Maple Bluff Fire department. The department was overbearing and continued to try and gain access to the backyard of the home, after being asked to leave on numerous occasions. Mr. Griffin advised them of his safe burning practices and showed them the running water hose (neon green) that was near by the burning canister with lid, which was connected from the hose bib on the west side of the house, between the garage, in plain view.

Mr. Griffin was successful in getting the department to leave but only after the fire was sprayed with water, which he did. After the Village fire department departed, Mr Griffin was surprised to see Officer Derek Austin with the University of Wisconsin - Madison Police Department and another officer with him, appear in the front of his residence. He could clearly make out Derek Austin and knows him, having had sex with him prior to this evening. It made no sense as to why he was on Mr.Griffin's property as this was in the Village of Maple Bluff and Mr. Austin works on the university campus. Mr. Griffin does not believe there was any nearby or high level situation that would have require that he "move up" in any certain direction.

Mr. Griffin said goodnight to the Village Fire department and Village police, thanking them for there concerns and proceeded back to the back yard. As he did he snuck around the corner of the house to observe, as Mr. Austin and the other officer didn't leave with the Village fire department or police department..

Mr. Austin and the other officer unknown officer violated Mr. Griffin's civil rights and proceeded into the backyard, without a warrant, and after being explicitly asked to leave out front. The fire was already out and there was no reason for them to come in the back yard.

As Mr. Griffin observing from a close distance out of sight watched Mr. Austin used his cell phone and flashlight and took photographs of the burn pit's partially incinerated contents, as well as a stack of client records containing personal information that was scheduled for destruction. Mr. Griffin did not authorize Derek Austin to photograph or duplicate these items, nor did the clients, who's information it was, authorize it's photography, duplication, or release to law enforcement.

October 3rd, 2023 very early morning

Mr. Griffin went then to his downtown capitol square office in the the very early morning just after midnight on Oct 3rd 2023 to capture his computer and networking equipment and check for more planted evidence. Upon approaching his suite, authorities had already pre-staged forensic, testing, and capture equipment in two clear plastic totes with yellow lids, including an industrial sized lint rollers used to capture hairs and fibers. Said rollers were approximately 20 inches in width and placed in front of Mr. Griffin's office.

Since this forensic equipment was readied at his office prior to the alleged, and also staged, crime of child enticement, supposedly occurring, 25-30 plus hours later in the early morning of October 4th 2023, at Mr. Griffin's Maple Bluff home.

It seems easy to conclude, and common sense would advise that, it was a setup perpetrated by law enforcement, as they were for sure they had Mr. Griffin (falsely) set up and arrested at this point for the forthcoming staged enticement of Jane Doe.

Mr. Griffin logged onto his business computers and noticed unusual network, system, and cloud drive behavior on the desktop system, a deeper investigation advised that there were 4 additional computer terminals, which were not his, hooked in as authorized user machines on his operating system and cloud systems.

He knew at that point everything had been compromised in the office and all electronics had to be destroyed as soon as possible. Mr. Griffin immediately terminated power to all computer, network, and electronic equipment in the office and removed all hardware and remaining physical files and returned home with the items. Upon arrival, Mr. Griffin rebooted the previously extinguished fire and incinerations continued, concluding shortly there after.

October 3rd 2023 - Morning and Midday

Upon waking up, Mr. Griffin immediately recommenced incinerations and completed his destructions of the planted evidence, tainted household items, and compromised electronics around lunchtime. This was in face of the continued harassment from the Village police departs Kristopher Loy, who continued to attempt to breach his way into the private area of Mr. Griffin's shielded north east brick patio, approaching from the Sherman Ave side.

Mr. Griffin continued to advise the Fire Chief to leave and he refused. Chief Loy continued to make mentions of using or misusing Wisconsin's involuntary mental health commitment law, again attempting to violate and circumvent Mr. Griffin's civil rights and rights to private property.

Mr. Loy was wearing a lime green Axon enterprise, Inc. recording device the entire time, and was doing so at all visits. Kristopher continued to throw a tantrum, now suggesting that the contained burn pit fire was "too close to the house". Mr. Griffin advised Mr. Loy that "he was too close to the house but we're working through it". Mr. Loy left shortly there after. He returned some time later, this time with the Maple bluff police department in tow. The police department now asked that the fire be put out, which was already in a die down due to the completion of Mr. Griffin's incinerations.

Mr. Griffin again asked them to leave and referred them to his counsel, they refused and then proceed to handcuff Mr. Griffin, without an specific reason advised. Mr.Griffin played along with their antics and moved with them to the other side of the yard and sat as Mr.

Tanner Nystrom was on his way over. Once Tanner arrived, for a split second, he had a look of compassion on his face and it quickly dissipated, and he returned to his hyper aggressive and demonic baseline..

The chief advised of a citation for burning and creating noxious smoke, Mr. Griffin cooperated fully and advised that he would comply. After he, Sugden and the unnamed officer litigate the idea of once again attempting to misuse Wisconsin's involuntary mental health commitment laws but ultimately deciding against it, he knew they were up to something. As they finished up and released Mr. Griffin from the handcuffs, he could tell the set was absolute brand new. Mr. Griffin knew this a faint attempt to capture his DNA for later misuse or comparison to their staged crime. Thinking quickly, he grabbed a shoot filled rag from his pocket and rubbed it on the handcuff arms as the officer removed one bar and then the other, spoiling the sample. The officers and the chief smiled for a quick second.

As they were departing, and shortly there after, Mr. Griffin watched as Chief Nystrom and Sgt. Sugden, both commented to each-other that the lack of the involuntary mental health commitment didn't matter as they has another plan. Both men nearly chest bumped each other near the northeast corner of Mr. Griffin's garage and had a distinct cackle to their voice and body language, almost as if they were feasting hyenas for a few seconds.

Mr.Griffin knew more trouble was on the horizon and this strange episode has exposed their forthcoming entrance and staged crime scene of Jane Doe's enticement, which would occur later that evening/morning.

October 4th, 2023 daybreak

Mr. Griffin woke up at daybreak after barely any sleeping on the couch.

He looked at the coffee table to find his Mercedes Benz keys moved from the location he put them in on the coffee table by about 1 foot before he had went to sleep. He knew someone had been in the house at that point which a was strange since he locked all doors tight. Task force agents had utilized a juggler key to enter while he was sleeping, however.

After getting on his feet, Mr. Griffin entered his master bedroom at approximately 7:30am, upon siting down and urinating in his attached master bathroom, Mr. Griffin looked towards the right and he notice a bathroom scale out of place that was leaning against the wall. Mr. Griffin is in incredible physical fitness from his 12 year regular practice of hot yoga and doesn't weight himself as there's no point.

The bathroom scale was moved, as it always lays flat, on the ground in the corner of the the bathroom collecting dust. It was moved into an upright position, leaning against the wall baseboard near were it usually sat, upon inspection Mr. Griffin noticed it was not covered in a film of dust from its lack of use like always and had streak marks of being recently cleaned with alcohol and absolutely no dust on it. Imprinted were two small footprints perhaps 3- 4 inches in length.

Mortified at this point, Mr. Griffin searched the main living area of his residence and upstairs bathrooms to find the following: approximately 2 inches of water in his whirlpool bathroom on the main floor bathroom (north wall) with the stopper closed, a green foot scrubbing brush and small dove body wash soap container placed near by, that had been in the adjacent grey bathroom vanity.

Mr. Griffin gets regular pedicures and doesn't use the green foot scrubbing brush ever, hence its location in the far back of the grey vanity, nor does he use Dove products on any regular basis, as he uses exclusively Burts Bees soaps and lotions.

On the kitchen counter, a tape measure was pulled from the kitchen island junk drawer and withdrawn to approximately the 35" mark and locked open with the metal tape extended on the kitchen island.

Due to the biohazard of the staged crime scene, Mr. Griffin began to clean and chemically sanitize the area. After doing so he took the dirty bath towel used for cleaning and opened the washer behind him to toss it in, damp cloths were inside and he switched the damp cloths into the above dryer. The dryer had some dry cloths in it from being run the prior day. Since there was room, he threw the approximately half load of damp cloths inside and started the cycle.

Upon starting the dryer, it kept making a clicking noise. Mr. Griffin was puzzled as it never does that. Annoyed, he pulled out all of the cloths to find a small yellow zipper that did not belong to him or his cloths. The yellow zipper was small in size, like that of a child's coat, which made little sense because it was still quite hot outside from the late summer heat. Mr. Griffin does not have children, so it was clearly additional planted evidence of the staged minor enticement. Mr. Griffin knew there was more but didn't see anything else in the upstairs area.

He peaked out the east windows to see law enforcement again staging for a raid of his residence in the Lakewood plaza shopping center parking lot, with a coned off area in the middle of the parking lot. Mr. Griffin believed this was to be the examining area after all his furniture and contents, as they were carried out of the house and over there.

Since the lawn was getting high, Mr. Griffin, thinking quickly, decided to go mow the yard and use that to look around the property. He began in the front yard, mowing his usual angles and noticed the Mercedes Benz had been moved slightly from where he had parked it and was further away from the grass/curd area than how he parks it. He knew at that point the car had been drive without his permission.

Once he got to the middle of the front yard mowing angles, he found a US one dollar bill in the grass, near the street gutter at the exact northwest corner of Sherman Ave & Roxbury Rd. Mr. Griffin, using his foot, kicked and shuffled the currency into the storm sewer.

As he turned around, he could feel and see an immediate cessation of setup activity from the raid staging area at the Lakewood plaza. He continued mowing and finished the front yard and headed to the back yard. After finishing the back and grabbing the leaf blower to clean up, he headed back out front. To his amazement, the law enforcement raid setup area was completely cleaned up, cones removed, and everyone was gone.

After he finished mowing the yard around in the early morning on October 4rd, he jumped in his AMG Mercedes Benz sedan, which was parked directly in front of his home and locked overnight. He noticed it was tampered with and driven during the night. The vehicle had additional mileage on it, a broken trunk release switch, and had a few dots of paper (the waste from a 3 hole paper punch) in the back seat, and back floorboard.

After spraying down the interior with disinfectants and removing the 3 hole punch pieces, this made little sense as planted evidence as Mr. Griffin's commercial operations are all digitized. He doesn't use the punch as he doesn't three ring binder any paperwork. Like most everyone's legacy office gadgets, it sat lonely in his home office on the desk.

Mr.Griffin believes they had planned to compare the paper type and characteristics of the small circular pieces planted in the Mercedes with the three hold punch in Mr. Griffin's office which had strangely been moved and numerous circles paper punch pieces scattered on the carpeting near the desk.

As a neat freak, Mr. Griffin would never had allow these paper punches on the carpet in the first place. Mr.Griffin presumes further that they stuck a couple of these circular punch pieces on Jane Doe's shoes or feet to try and tie her to Mr.Griffin's home and front office. This would have supported Jane Doe's father's false report of the fictitious incident to village police, and completed his part in the insurance fraud scheme, earning himself a new metal roof from Paramount Roofing courtesy of George and Mary Cullen via R.G. Harriman General Contractors.

Mr. Griffin believes that this is the insurance fraudsters best but truly sick attempt to prey on and mock his professional expression as a finance and accounting professional, as well as his life long hobbies of coin and currency collecting. With the suggestion being that he was enticing, bathing, measuring, weighting, and categorizing the young girl, then releasing her with a one dollar payment. Mr. Griffin finds this level of evil truly unfathomable, but believes that people will do anything for money.

October 5th -15th 2023

The morning of October 5th brought with it new, but different surprises. Mr. Griffin again awoken to his home having been entered with a Juggler key overnight and a staged crime scene set up in the den area.

Mr. Griffin, a gay 37 year old male, who is only attracted to and has relations with fellow consenting adult males, was now being suggested to having sexual contact with a minor male, presumably Everett Reid. Having felt very violated by the previous days ordeal, Mr. Griffin sleep in his master bedroom on the boxspring instead of on the sofa in the den.

Upon waking up and looking in the den area, it was again staged, now as a male on male encounter. The sofa was ruffled up some, pillows untidied, the throw blanket moved. On the coffee table there were two glass bottles of partially drank San Pellegrino water siting side by side. A crumpled up handful of toilet paper sitting on the sofa revealed a moist, sticky substance inside, resembling that of male ejaculation.

He was puzzled as to how this got there, as he had not had any male guests over, much less had the time or desire to jerk himself off, due to all the commotion recently.

Immediately there after, Mr. Griffin started to laugh out loud and rolled his eyes, thinking "what a bunch of desperate mental midgets the task force agents were"…"First, categorizing and bathing little girls and now jerking off ugly and disrespectful teenagers with buck teeth". They had little clue of Mr. Griffin's likes and dislikes.

Shortly there after, Mr. Griffin cleaned up the pathetic scene and due to the biological hazard posed, he chemically destroyed the planted semen and sanitized the glass bottles and entire home, again. Further disinfectants and cleaning and steaming were used to sanitize the remaining area and entry and exit points. Mr. Griffin, next, had to figure out how to get the these "protecting and serving" agents from coming inside his residence without a warrant again.

He started with changing the locks, but knew that would be temporary, more interior camera, check. But this situation called for an enhanced security protocol. Which took days to design and implement.

In the interim, he received a few more visits from the task force and Touch of Europe LLC cleaning trying to plant evidence. On or around October 8th, a juggler key was used to enter while Mr. Griffin slept, he woke up to the sound of the central vacuum running downstairs. As he came around the corner from his bedroom he could see two women exiting the front door in light darken. Mr. Griffin knew they were again trying to plant hair and fiber evidence in the dust canister of his Honeywell central vacuum system.

This time the joke was on them as he had already removed, emptied, and incinerated the contents inside and failed to reattach the vacuum's collection canister.

When he went down stairs the dust, dirt, and hair that they dropped off and sucked through the sweep in dust port in the upstairs kitchen was all over the floor in the lower level utility room where the main vacuum unit is located.

Man, "These women with Ava Palek's Touch of Europe cleaning LLC are just the scum of the earth" I guess that paid straw marriage to get citizenship from Mr. Griffin's domestic partner, Derick Moore, really turned them, he thought.

Previously, the night before the initial raid, Mr. Griffin has enlisted the help of his old "friend" Jackson from Drackenbergs cigar bar at the Lakewood Plaza for help carrying in a replacement used dryer that he had brought home. He figured Jackson had some strong men in the bar and called him for help as he had just loaned him his grill a few weeks earlier. In doing so, he brought with two men (who were undercover officers) and they helped carry the dryer down to the utility room.

During the conversation, Jackson suggested he knew a good plumber who could make the gas connection and complete the set up. Mr. Griffin knew how to do this himself but to be polite to Jackson, he said send her over and she arrived not long after with Jackson in tow.

The brash women (also an undercover officer) offered to do the hookup and was "doing side work and had a full time job at Action Heating, sensing she was lying immediately, Mr.Griffin continued to show her the gas dryer to test her knowledge. There wasn't much there. Then she made a comment about the Honeywell Central Vacuum system, "you know you have that, right?" "Yes", Mr. Griffin replied, "I installed it…I love vacuums".

This made little sense given the context of the meeting and he knew that the vacuum system was involved in the forthcoming setup. Playing dumb, Mr. Griffin said "he would look forward to her bid on the dryer setup and walked Jackson and the "plumber" out of his home.

Mr. Griffin can only surmise that Jeff and Marvin Levy has been using their company, Phillips Distribution Corporation, to provide free or discounted liquor to Jackson at Drackenberg's Cigar Bar for his help with this insurance fraud scheme.

After permanently ditching Jackson and the plumber, he went back down stairs to look in the dust canister, only to find it nearly full but with lots of hairs and fibers that didn't belong to him. As he lives alone and is extremely clean, this made little sense once again. Also, Touch of Europe Cleaning LLC, employed from 2020 - Sept 2023, always brought their own equipment and vacuums and never used the central vacuum, as Mr. Griffin asked them to use their own equipment.

What a dirty trick, Mr. Griffin thought, and what a joke, after paying, employing, and graciously tipping these women for years. Thanks for nothing but based upon his life experiences and professional experience, Mr. Griffin believes that people will do anything for money.

Beginning in the first week of October, task force agents using Mr. Griffin's Mother and Shannon holt as their Trojan horses, continued to drop off and mail items to Mr. Griffin at his residence. These included unsolicited gifts, multiple boxes and totes full of Mr. Griffin's childhood memorabilia, all contained additional planted evidence that was both physical and biological in nature.

Mr. Griffin admits this was one of the harder periods of this claim as he doesn't believe any son deserves to have their Mother dropping off planted evidence at their doorstep, while simultaneously including love notes with it, and leaving that evidence stashed amongst childhood memorabilia left in Rubbermaid plastic totes on their doorstep.

Mr. Griffin believes that this was occurring because the task force agents quickly realized that Mr. Griffin had previously identified and destroyed all of their prior planted evidence, for which he can confirm or all of it.

One such tote was filled with a thrift store pillow that had a printed gay flag on it, and included childhood pictures of Mr. Griffin and his grandmother and family. Additionally inside at the bottom, was a plastic bag that was triple plastic bagged and within the strange present, there was a small child's sized towel. Presumably, Mr. Griffin believes, that this towel belongs to Jane Doe and was meant as further planted DNA testable evidence of her enticement, which was staged, and never actually occurred. This tote was perhaps the most disturbing of all of the "gifts" from Rhonda and Shannon, and will be hard to forget for a very long time.

These items were dropped off with active no trespassing signs written and posted in plain view at the property at all entrances. These signs specifically named Marvin Levy, Jeff Levy, Shannon Holt, and Rhonda Griffin as not allowed at the home or on the property. The Maple Bluff police department was aware of the signage but took no action to stop the visits, but rather, arranged them.

All of the aforementioned dropped off and unwanted "gift" items have been chemically neutralized and destroyed.

Also notable during this period was Mr.Griffin's malnutrition as the oppression of the task force rendered his ability to purchase, consume, and retain food essentially none existent as they continued to try and swab his DNA wherever he would go, trying to match it to staged crime scenes.

Mr. Griffin recalls that in this period he was forced to live on just oatmeal and water for about 6 days. Mr. Griffin usually dines out or picks up meals from a healthy meal service after yoga. The oatmeal was a found canister in a back cupboard, which expired years back. During this period, Mr.Griffin lost about 10 pounds, and destroyed the flora in his gut, taking another several days to rebuild back to normal digestion. He doesn't remember being that malnourished or feeling that dizzy or confused in his life. Be wasn't able to have a proper bowel movement for approximately 2 weeks.

October 16th, 2023 - October 23rd, 2023

This period contained more of the same conduct, dodging planted evidence and unwanted gifts, and trying to stay healthy, while attempting to resume some semblance of "normal" as the task force continues to follow him with fictitious children and families wherever he goes and records him with video. It's a strange existence right now Mr.Griffin confirms.

Since the insurance fraudsters and by extension the task force led by Tanner Nystrom have painted Mr. Griffin as a sexual deviant and predator, no one will speak with him and he has lost all his friends and connections. Mr. Griffin confesses it is every difficult to leave his home due to the looks and treatment by others, none of which he has earned nor deserves. These are not the seeds Mr.Griffin has sewn.

Milwaukee, WI

On October 23rd, Mr. Griffin drove to Milwaukee to tend to some business, shopping, and visit an independent laboratory. During the visit, he had decided to stay over in Milwaukee to get away from the insanity for a few days. He booked a stay at the lovely Pabst old brewery hotel near the lakeshore.

Task force agents were in hot pursuit and had already been there by the time he arrived after the booking a few hours earlier, tracing his debit card, which they have access to through inappropriate use of the United State Patriot Act, that is meant to stop terrorism.

After getting cleaned up and heading to bed, Mr. Griffin, awoke in the morning to three task force agents in the main corridor area right outside his room, checking out and inspecting the old 20th century brewing equipment at the hotel.

He went down to the desk for a few things and by the time he came back up they had already been inside his hotel room. Once he arrived back to the room, Mr. Griffin quickly packed up and went back down stairs to check out. The desk clerk acted strange as she pulled his room number and Mr. Griffin knew she was reading notes in the system. He asked to end the prepaid two night stay early and requested a receipt but did not request a refund. She refused and said they'll turn the room after the full paid stay.

Mr. Griffin, who worked the desk at a hotel in high school knew this was inaccurate and made no sense as they would want to re-rent the room right away the next night. The clerk said no way, he had to complete the stay. He said he wanted confirmation that he was checking out and leaving then at about 10am, she said no, not going to happen.

Mr. Griffin quickly grabbed his phone and texted and emailed the hotel from the booking.com app to start an electronic trail to confirm that he left. He spent the next 2 hours on the phone with different booking and hotel personnel just to get notes and call history recorded so they could not stage any crimes in the hotel room he had departed, in his absence, that day, evening, or next day

Additionally, he stripped the room of all bedding and towels and placed them in the hallway in plain view of 2 security camera to be safe. Mr. Griffin confirms this is the strangest, most disconcerting and laborious checkout experience he had ever had at a hotel. What a crazy get away trip he thought as he drove back towards Madison after completing his remaining errands and shopping.

Upon arriving back to Madison, he noticed the large black tote mentioned above, sitting at the the front door, inside the triple plastic bagged planted child's towel of Jane Doe and his own childhood memorabilia and such from his Mother, including the thrift store pillow with a gay flag on it. Mr. Griffin quickly remembered why he no longer speaks to his Mother anymore.

Mr. Griffin theorizes that the plan of the task force agents was to stage a minor assault or similar in his hotel room at the Pabst Milwaukee hotel and arrest him there, then finally and once and for all raid his Maple Bluff residence and push the tote inside with the planted child's towel of Jane Doe, to tie him to the enticement that they staged earlier in the month, that never actually happened in the first place. The world will never know, as this setup and raid, was also foiled.

As mentioned earlier in this document, due to the biological hazard of these planted items, and their nefarious purposes, Mr. Griffin was forced to completely and utterly destroy them.

The task force agents stopped trying to come into Mr. Griffin's home and on his property as this point and the gifts, except for numerous "get well soon" cards from Rhonda Griffin and Shannon Holt have stopped.

Law enforcement has revered to trickery and the like, since. Including harassment of Mr. Griffin's financial accounts attempting to impede him from getting his own money from them.

Additionally, and noteworthy, was Jeff Levy, sending his window cleaning company unannounced to Mr. Griffin's home on November 8th, 2023.

As Mr. Griffin was enjoying his peace, he heard a truck arrive and ladders and window cleaners descend on the home. Since Mr. Griffin hadn't hired or payed for the services, he shouted them off the property from inside.

They initially wouldn't leave and were trying to climb on the roof of his home with the ladder, but further shouting was convincing. They were doing this to try and get on the roof and look into Mr. Griffin's home from his dormer windows to try and identify him and photograph the inside of his home, presumably to further the insurance fraud scheme in some way.

On November 10th, 2023, Task force agents attempted to stage a ruse car accident on East Washington Ave. in the city of Madison near the 30 interchange ramp headed towards the Capitol. During the incident, the agents, in 3 light duty pickup trucks, were communicating via cellular phone and making hand gestures pointing toward Mr.Griffin Mercedes Benz AMG sedan. Mr. Griffin observing this from his rear view and side view mirrors.

Noticing the setup and attempted box-in by the agents, Mr. Griffin used the tremendous acceleration powers of the Bi Turbocharged AMG sedan and quickly removed him and the vehicle from harms way, merging onto the 30 highway and away from them.

It appeared as if one agent was quickly accelerating to cut in front of Mr.Griffin and slam on the brakes, attempting to cause a car accident. Mr. Griffin thanks his vehicles abilities and his high situational awareness for helping him avoid this deliberate attempt to injure and falsely arrest him. This was done in the faint attempt to "identify" Mr. Griffin, who had already request an attorney and no contact from law enforcement. With the bad car accident would have came the Madison police, ultimately identifying him. But they didn't come and the accident thankfully never occurred.

This car accident ruse is supportive of attempting to "identify him" to tie him to the staged enticement of Jane Doe in the earlier part of October, which, by extension, supports the insurance fraud scheme.

Moving ahead, He further hopes these pathetic insurance fraud parties will join him in building and improving the world, rather than breaking and destroying so much, as they have.

Mr. Griffin believes that it will take a double digit number of years to fully rebuild from this dreadful period economically, and perhaps longer to rebuild all new relationships, as his have all been obliterated unnecessarily and cruelly at the hands of the insurance fraud parties and Maple Bluff Police Chief Tanner Nystrom as well as the other parties listed on this claim.

These demands to rebuild come in conflict with the reality that Mr. Griffin is in the prime earning and family producing years of his life, which can never be returned.
